Recover Four Bodies in Wreckage After Plane Hits Supermarket

By MURRAY SINCLAIR

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—An Air Force jet crashed into a supermarket where more than 50 persons were shopping and burst into flames Monday night.

Firemen recovered four bodies from the market and nearby homes to which the blaze spread. They said nine persons feared missing had been accounted for.

Parchuted from Plane

The plane's two crewmen parachuted to safety moments before the crash.

The flames destroyed the supermarket and heavily damaged two adjoining businesses and three homes near the shopping area at 29th and Alvernon streets.

The pilot was identified as Flight Lt. Jack R. Hamilton of Perth, Ontario, of the Royal Canadian Air Force. The navigator was Capt. Gary L. Hughes of Mt. Shasta, Calif., a U.S. Air Force officer. They jumped from the plane seconds after takeoff from Davis-Monthan Air Force Base, about two miles away.

The two men are stationed at Nellis Air Force Base, Nev., and were on a routine training mission.

The Air Force gave no reason as to why the men had to bail out.

Witnesses said the F4D jet flew on a direct course into the back of the store. Rosewell Burk, 15, one of those near the scene, said it looked like one of the wings hit the corner of the building first.

"I had been expecting this," said Fred Cirillo, 38, operator of a service station across the street from the market. "In the past two weeks I have had nine windows knocked out of my station because of the low-flying planes."

One of the first to rush into the store and lead victims out was Ernest Sanchez, 26.

"I believe I saw the bodies of two children," he said. Aided Several Sanchez said he was able to aid several of the panic-stricken persons inside. "I was just inside the store when a woman ran in from outside. 'I think she had a child in the rear of the store. There was nothing but flames there. I grabbed her. When she struggled to get free I pushed her out of the store,' he said.

One of the dead was identified as Sherry Tilton, 19, who lived in a house behind the market. Firemen said the girl was trapped in a back bedroom of the home, when the roof fell in on her.

An Air Force investigation is planned.

Marcus Kickback Probe Is Continuing

By BOB MONROE

NEW YORK (AP) — City investigators, working on the direct orders of Mayor John V. Lindsay, begin today a painstaking probe into all matters dealt with by former mayoral aide James L. Marcus, accused with a Cosa Nostra figure in a city contract kickback scheme.

Marcus and five other men, including labor racketeer Antonio "Tony Ducks" Corallo, were arrested Monday in what one city official described as the most spectacular city scandal since the Seabury investigation of the early 1930's that led to the resignation of Mayor James J. Walker.

According to the federal grand jury indictment, Marcus allegedly pocketed $16,000 of a $40,000 kickback in the award of an $800,000 city reservoir cleaning contract while serving as commissioner of water supply, gas and electricity.

Resigned Post

It was one week ago today that Marcus, a friend and confidant of the mayor, abruptly resigned his $30,000-a-year post.

He had been one of the best-liked and fastest rising young men in the Republican mayor's two-year-old administration.

The defendants, each charged with conspiring to violate federal antiracketeering laws, face a maximum penalty upon conviction of five years in federal prison and a $10,000 fine.

At their arraignment, federal Judge Constance Baker Motley set bail of $10,000 for Corallo but released the others without bond.

for a hearing Dec. 28. Marcus, 37, refused to comment to newsmen.

The others indicted were Henry Fried, 60, head of S.T. Grand and Co., and a prominent New York horse breeder; Herbert I. Kin, 41, a New York City labor lawyer and a law associate; Charles Rappaport, 30; and Daniel Motto, 57, of Greenwich Conn., president of New York Local 350, Bakery Workers Union.

John J. Malone, assistant FBI director in New York, said organized crime was apparently "making attempts to infiltrate the administration of the city" but added there was no evidence of appreciable success.

In a related development, a representative of S. T. Grand picked up a check for $98,027 at City Comptroller Mario Procaccino's office as part payment on the reservoir contract on which $689,000 had already been paid.

Procaccino stopped payment on the check 40 minutes later on learning of the arrests.

Marcus, prematurely gray, tanned and expensively dressed, had been slated to head the new Environmental Protection Agency, a superunit combining his own agency plus the sanitation and air pollution departments.

Marcus acted under the direction of Corallo when he awarded the reservoir contract to S. T. Grand and Co. without competitive bidding.

The indictment said that in return Fried kicked back 5 per cent of the $800,000 to Motto, who divided up the $40,000 on the basis of 1 per cent to himself, Corallo and Ikin and 2 per cent, or $16,000 to Marcus.

Corallo was described by the FBI as a potential successor to the late Thomas "Three Finger Brown" Luchese, who headed one of the Cosa Nostra families here. Corallo served two years in federal prison starting in 1963 for a $35,000 plot to fix a federal bankruptcy case.

Marcus was born in Schenectady where his father was a lawyer. He attended the University of Pennsylvania but left before graduating because he said he wanted to make money quickly.

Marcus married the former Lily Lodge, whose father, John Davis Lodge, had been governor of Connecticut and ambassador to Spain.

When he joined Lindsay during the latter's uphill campaign for office he was not at the center of operations. But his performance on special jobs impressed the mayor and after Lindsay took office Marcus was appointed as an assistant.

Johnson Going to Holt's Services

CANBERRA, Australia (AP)

Australia's minister of education and science, Sen. John Grey Gorton, emerged today as a likely compromise successor to Prime Minister Harold Holt.

Holt, who disappeared while swimming in the surf off the southeast coast Sunday, is to be memorialized at a service in-Melbourne Friday attended by President Johnson. The President's decision to make the 10,173-mile flight was an unusual gesture of respect for his staunch ally in the Vietnam war.

Summit Possible

Thieu of South Vietnam, President Ferdinand Marcos of the Philippines and President Chung Hee Park of South Korea—announced they would attend the Melbourne service also.

There was speculation they would hold an informal summit conference with Johnson and Australian leaders on the prosecution of the war.

Informal sources in London said British Prime Minister

Harold Wilson might also fly to Australia.

Deputy Prime Minister John McEwen, leader of the Country party, was sworn in today as interim prime minister to serve until Holt's Liberal party, the larger member of the Liberal-Country coalition, elects a new party leader and prime minister at a meeting Jan. 9.

Normally Federal Treasurer William McMahon, the deputy leader of the Liberals, would succeed Holt. But McEwen made clear to the Liberals that his party would withdraw from the coalition if McMahon was chosen, leaving the government three votes short of a majority.

Gorton, a 6-foot, 56-year-old farmer whose wife was born in the United States, conferred with other Liberal leaders today and told newsmen they had asked him to run for Holt's seat in the House of Representatives so he could take over the government reins. He said he had formally notified McMahon and the party's deputy parliamentary leader of his candidacy.

Gorton holds a master of arts degree from Oxford and was a World War II pilot in Europe and the Pacific. He was badly wounded.

Search Hampered
Rough seas and a strong southerly wind hampered the search today for the body of the 59-year-old prime minister, who disappeared off Portsea, a resort 37 miles south of Melbourne. Searchers said the body might never be found because of the strong ocean currents.

Holt's wife remained at the family's vacation home at Portsea with her three stepsons and their wives. The national radio network played music at the start of its programs today, followed by the reading of messages of sympathy to the Australian government and Mrs. Holt.

'Heart Man' in Poor Condition

By DAVID J. PAINE

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) — Heart transplant patient Louis Washkansky is "in a very serious condition," his doctors said today, but they added they have not given up hope for him.

Dr. M.C. Botha said there had been "a very dramatic decrease" in Washkansky's white corpuscle count in the past 24 hours and a transfusion was planned.

The doctors on Monday night reported a deterioration in the condition of the 53-year-old wholesale grocer, who developed lung complications on Saturday.

Dr. Botha said although there were various possible explanations for the decrease in Washkansky's white blood count, "it seems likely a process of rejection is taking place."

But he added that the rejection process might be affecting "his own tissues such as the lungs and circulating white blood cells" rather than the heart which was transplanted into his body.

Ever since the operation, Washkansky's doctors had believed the greatest danger to him lay in the body's normal tendency to reject organs and other foreign bodies implanted Washkansky was treated for pneumonia. When he did not respond to penicillin, doctors began to wonder whether the lung complications might indicate his body is trying to reject the transplanted heart. The heart was taken from Denise Ann Darvall, 25, after she was killed in an auto accident, and substituted for Washkansky's diseased heart Dec. 3.

Washkansky's appetite has been poor since the lung condition has developed.

"We are disturbed about the patient's condition," said Dr. Christian N. Barnard Monday night.

Barnard, who headed the surgical team in the landmark operation, told newsmen that lung changes which doctors first treated as an infection have been increasing.

"He has not responded well to this treatment," said Barnard. "It may be some evidence of the rejection phenomenon in that he is reacting to new tissues."

If Washkansky's natural body defenses against foreign objects reject the heart, there is little doctors can do to save him.

He had been showing good progress since the surgery until the lung complications. Doctors had planned to remove the stitches from his chest incision and allow him to walk this week.

Joe: Something Must Be Done About Cambodia Infiltration

The majority of Americans are "in favor of invading Cambodia, Laos and North Vietnam, and dropping the bomb on anyone who tries to stop us," claimed Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick at a Saigon press conference today.

Referring to President Johnson's moderate course on the war, he told newsmen that despite the general feeling of Americans, he personally follows the president's middle-road policy.

The Ellenville Democrat, who seeks his party's nomination to run for the Senate next year, said that 20 or 30 members of Congress would vote to pull out of Vietnam, another 100 would vote to maintain the current pressure but "the rest would vote for all-out war."

His constituents in New York, he feels, want to "get in there and wipe them out."

Yesterday Resnick, concluded a one-week visit in South Vietnam, told the press "something will have to be done about Cambodia" as an infiltration route for North Vietnamese soldiers.

He also called Senators Robert Kennedy, Eugene McCarthy and William Fulbright, members of the "bug-out" faction regarding Vietnam.

Failing out and letting the chips fall where they may is not a new mode of operation for Resnick. As a freshman congressman he spent his first term making a good many attacks in many directions, usually in the name of defense of President Johnson.

Elected in the 1964 Democratic landslide, he went into his second term with the personal endorsement of the president and two members of the cabinet, all of whom visited Ulster County prior to election and spoke in Resnick's behalf.

Since then he has gained national attention with his one-man investigation of the Farm Bureau.

Resnick's most formidable opponent at the moment for the Democratic nomination appears to be Morris Abrams, New York City lawyer.

Budget Copies Vowed

The preliminary budget of Ulster County for next year is undergoing final changes, and although no copies and no total figures are available today, copies are expected to be ready Wednesday morning.

The public hearing on the preliminary budget is scheduled to be held 7:30 p. m. Wednesday in the supervisors' rooms of the county building.

Board Chairman Peter J. Savago said there will be a budget and it will be ready with copies in time for the hearing. The usual procedure is to have copies of the budget ready five days prior to the hearing.

Officials responsible for drafting the preliminary budget have been working at top speed to complete the final draft in order that copies may be ready in time for the hearing.

County officials who are aware of large increases in various departments hint that the final figure will be considerably over last year's total of $12,341,047.

An appropriation for medical assistance for the aged to pay for Medicaid totaling $3.5 million will add $2 million to the budget total. The 1967 figure for welfare was $4.15 million with about $2.7 million estimated revenue, leaving $1.4 million to be raised by taxes.

Salary adjustments recommended in a salary study by Hanawalt Associates, research and development firm of Westfield, N. J., is also expected to add to the budget boost. It was reported there are also increases in the county highway department appropriation.

A sharp increase in the county budget will reflect in increased tax rates in the 20 towns of the county and the City of Kingston when county charges are added to these local budgets.

River Dragging Starts, 42 Bodies Are Still Missing

POINT PLEASANT, W. Va. (AP) — A flotilla of small craft begins a 14-mile dragging operation on the Ohio River today in an attempt to find the bodies of those missing in the suspension bridge collapse.

Searchers have recovered 19 bodies since the Friday disaster. Civil Defense officials estimate there are still 42 missing.

Army officers in charge of the recovery estimate the dragging operation will take several days. They said small craft will drag "every inch" of the river bottom from the mangled wreckage of the collapsed Silver Bridge to the Gallipolis dam 14 miles downstream.

Still Probe Cause

Meanwhile, federal and state officials from Ohio and West Virginia continue to probe the cause of the disaster. President Johnson sent a telegram Monday night to Gov. Hallett C. Smith of West Virginia, promising federal aid to restore transportation across the river and for plans to build a new bridge.

"Every possible help will be rendered," said Johnson. "The nation has been saddened by the Silver Bridge tragedy."

The West Virginia Road Commission has engaged a consulting engineering firm—Modjeski and Masters of Harrisburg, Pa.—to provide what Road Commissioner Burl A. Sawyer called "an independent analysis" of possible causes of the collapse.

Harry Stephens, the road commission's chief bridge design engineer, said his investigators already have ruled out one possible cause—failure of the anchorage at each end of the suspension span.

"The anchorage has not moved and we can rule that out altogether," he said.

To Inspect Others

Ohio Highway Director P. E. Masheter has ordered inspections of three other Ohio River bridges. West Virginia's Road Commission has closed the Ohio River bridge at St. Mary's, 80 miles north of here, because it is of the same type as the fallen bridge and was built about the same time. Several other bridges on the Ohio and Kanawha Rivers are being inspected by West Virginia authorities.

Traffic on the Pomeroy, Ohio-Mason, W.Va. bridge is being spaced by state police to eliminate overloading. The Pomeroy bridge is 20 miles north of Point Pleasant and is in heavy use since the disaster.

The New York Central Railroad started a shuttle car service over the river this morning on a railroad bridge 300 yards upstream of the former Silver Bridge.

The West Virginia Public Service Commission has approved emergency ferry service and is seeking clearance from the Interstate Commerce Commission and the Army Corps of Engineers.

State Atty. Gen. C. Donald Robertson has estimated damage claims totaling millions of dollars will be filed against West Virginia. He said it was "extremely doubtful" that the federal government would be involved in any liability.

Meanwhile divers are continuing to explore the mangled bridge wreckage. They have received a shipment of explosives to be used if needed. The divers report hazardous conditions, zero visibility and a strong six-knot current are hampering their efforts.

On the surface, floating cranes with grappling hooks and clamshell scoops are searching for wreckage.

Constantine Meets With Potamianos

ROME (AP) — King Constantine and retired Air Vice Marshal Haralambos Potamianos talked late Monday night and again today on the conflicting conditions of the young king and the Greek military junta for his return to the throne.

Potamianos, a close friend of the royal family and aide de camp to Constantine's father, the late King Paul, told newsmen he would fly back to Athens later today.

The king was under increasing pressure to make up his mind. The new Greek constitution, which will include the status of the monarchy, is to be submitted to the Athens government Saturday.

Constantine Kollias, the junta's puppet premier until he supported the king's attempted counter-coup last week, also took part in the talks with Potamianos today.

The junta denied that it sent Potamianos to Rome, but reliable sources said the 60-year-old officer was briefed by junta leaders and was certain to relay the king's stand to them on his return.

Constantine had said he would return if the military regime held free elections, took no reprisals against those who supported his coup attempt, gave an assurance that Premier George Papadopoulos would leave the government, and restored Constantine's former powers as king.

The junta would like the king back, but only as a figurehead, and so far has shown no disposition to go along with the king's demands. Deputy Premier Stylianos Patakos said Monday night: "The climate is not proper for his return."

Monsoon Clouds Curtail Attacks

SAIGON (AP) — Thick monsoon clouds began to settle over North Vietnam again today, curtailing the brief resurgence of heavy attacks on the North Vietnamese heartland during which U.S. pilots reported downing four major bridges, more than 30 SAM missile sites and more than 100 railroad cars and locomotives.

The raids cost the United States at least five planes in as many days.

A flurry of strikes went into the Hanoi area late Monday, and some missions again probed deep this morning before the cloud blanket began to close in about noon.

U.S. headquarters reported heavy damage Monday to Hanoi's mile-long Paul Doumer bridge, one of two over which the capital must pass. The all rail traffic from Red China to the U.S. Command said a rain of 3,000-pound bombs knocked out three of the bridge's 19 spans.

It was the fifth raid on the Doumer bridge and the second since Thursday.

U.S. headquarters also made delayed announcement of the loss of a Navy F4 Phantom jet in raids last Saturday and said the two crewmen were picked up by a helicopter after parachuting into the Tonkin Gulf. It was the 76th U.S. combat plane the American command has admitted losing over the North.

North Vietnam claimed at least 22 American planes were brought down since the break in the weather last Thursday allowed U.S. Army, Navy and Marine jets to return in force to the Hanoi-Haiphong area. The U.S. Command so far has reported five planes lost, with one flier killed, six others missing and three rescued.

Satisfied With Results

Despite the losses, American officers were satisfied with the results since Thursday. They said the raids caused extensive damage to Hanoi's two major bridges, with two more knocked out in Haiphong, a series of lesser bridges knocked down around both cities, and more than 30 anti-aircraft missile sites were bombed and rocketed.

In addition, Air Force and Navy pilots reported rich strikes on a dozen or more trains caught in the open and said they destroyed or damaged more than 100 rail cars and half of the bridges in Haiphong, previously a top priority target, were hit on only one day and then only two of the city's four main bridges were hit.

The U.S. air spokesman replied "I don't know" when asked why more strikes were not made in the Haiphong area during the weather break.

Such breaks in the weather are infrequent and unpredictable at this time of the year. It may be weeks or months before another comes along. Meanwhile, the Hanoi regime will also benefit from three brief bombing pauses during the armistices at Christmas, New Year's and Tet, the Vietnamese Lunar New Year.

While the air war over the region raged from early morning until North abated, fresh ground fighting broke out in South Vietnam. South Korean forces sweeping coastal scrubland 240 miles northeast of Saigon reported 74 Viet Cong killed in an operation sweeping the Mekong Delta rice paddies about 70 miles south of the city. The U.S. Navy reported North force of hard-core guerrillas hit Monday and reported killing 105 of the destroyer Lynde McCormick and capturing at least 32 weapons. Three government troops were killed and 12 wounded in the fighting. The ship received only superficial series of running fights that wounded the Navy said.

County Budget Hearing

Residents of Ulster County will have the opportunity to participate in the public hearing on next year's budget Wednesday evening at 7:30 in the supervisors' room of the County Building.

Public hearings are designed to obtain public reactions of the people on matters that affect them. But how can the people express themselves on the various items comprising the budget if copies are not made available to them in reasonable time for perusal? The taxpayer, the public who pays the bills is entitled to know for what his money is being spent. He gets altogether too little information.

Copies of the budget should be distributed weeks in advance of the hearing and not held up until the very last minute. Why should the people be deprived of their right to know what makes up the huge cost of government?

Taxes continue to soar and all levels of government are looking for new sources such as sales taxes to further burden the taxpayer. It's time budget makers were told to economize by concentrating on essential services only and by cutting out waste.

We recommend the budget hearing for all organizations and individuals who have a personal interest in taxation.

Greek Tragedy

It's doubtful if even the Greeks have a word to sum up the amazing series of events that have marked the past few days in their troubled nation. It began with what, from all known circumstances, was an incredibly amateurish attempt by King Constantine to oust the military junta that seized power just over eight months ago. And now this very junta is reportedly making overtures to Constantine—who took refuge in Italy after the botched up coup—to return home.

Despite the assurances of the military that all is serene in Greece, and that support for the regime is general, Greece's problems are by no means behind her. This is emphasized in the reported overtures of the junta itself to the king. The motive for the invitation can only be fear of what may happen, both within its borders and in capitals outside, with the regency that has been established within the framework of a monarchy. The anxiety over what the days and weeks immediately ahead may bring is reflected dramatically in the very attempt to persuade the king to come home. He could only return in abject humiliation and embarrassment, and be a convenient tool of the clique he sought to overthrow. No ruler would be asked—particularly by those who were his sworn enemy but days ago—to agree to such a demeaning and degrading proposition were not those extending it doing so out of deep apprehension.

The concern concomitant upon the collapse of the crude Constantine countercoup against the colonels' clique has caused a London-Washington cleavage. Prime Minister Wilson let loose a blast at the "barbarous methods" in use in Greece, and there was talk in Commons—or, at least, questions asked—about withdrawing recognition of the Colonel Papadopoulos regime. Washington, never enamored of those who seized power in April, is thinking chiefly of what's best for the North American Treaty Organization. Together with Turkey's forces, the Greek armed might makes up NATO's Eastern Mediterranean defense, and Russia's actions in that area of late make it imperative that there be no defection.

Whatever Constantine's next move, the world will be asking the whys of his miscalculation. The staffs of the few military leaders upon whom the king knew he would have to rely in any overthrow attempt had been effectively infiltrated by the Papadopoulos regime, and officers loyal to Constantine were put in isolation. The king himself chose to announce the projected coup over a weak and little-used radio station in Larisa, and from there sound the call for public support. Evidence of care and planning and foresight is lacking. What makes it all the more tragic is that the junta was in some measure vulnerable, for it came out a loser in the settlement of the Cyprus dispute that had so recently pushed Greece and Turkey to the brink of war.

Freedom has already been impinged under the junta. It will be again, for that's the way dictators stay in power. The bulk of the Greek Army, Navy and Air Force is assigned to NATO's integrated command. Washington's task is to preserve that status undisturbed, even if it means remaining silent while Britain has spoken out. Silent or not, the cause of freedom and democracy has suffered a reverse by the Papadopoulos victory.

On his first journey to Africa in 1963, Paul Emile Cardinal Leger saw lepers for the first time. So moved was he, that he resigned his leadership of five million Quebec Catholics to go as a simple missionary to the lepers because he felt the Lord was asking him "for deeds as well as words." The move was without precedent in modern church history.

A recent study shows that there are between 250,000 and 300,000 hippies in the United States. That is less than 1 per cent of the older youth population. They make more noise than their numbers warrant.

Favorite Sons Will Play Key Role in '68 Convention

By BRUCE BLOSSAT

WASHINGTON (NEA) —

Confusion seems to be building over the role the many prospective Republican "favorite sons" may try to play—or be forced into—in the 1968 presidential nomination fight.

Included in the likely lineup, of course, are such men as Governors Nelson Rockefeller of New York, James Rhodes of Ohio, Raymond Shafer of Pennsylvania, John Volpe of Massachusetts, Claude Kirk of Florida, Ronald Reagan of California, and Senators Charles Percy of Illinois, John Tower of Texas and Clifford Case of New Jersey.

Some party professional sources, mostly moderate types, are saying that the 1968 situation will stay fluid enough to permit the nomination of Rockefeller by the GOP convention at Miami Beach if some of the listed favorite sons—plus other lesser ones—can be held in a sort of loose confederation until then.

On the other hand, it has been tossed out that a Richard Nixon, on a possible winning course, might try to brush some of the big-state favorite sons down like tennis balls and collect them and their delegates in an irresistible push to the nomination.

First off, it can be stated categorically that Richard Nixon does not intend to enter a single big-state presidential primary where a major favorite son is in prospect.

Nixon's strategy has never contemplated this, and sources in New York indicate there has been no change. Indeed, in three of the states mentioned, Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Illinois, convention delegates are not even bound to follow the primary results. Nixon could win and get nothing.

The indications that he might try to bulldoze the key favorite sons came as a rather accidental happening. Nixon agents moved swiftly to inform them that these signs were not the true ones.

The impressions left by the first reports may not, however, prove altogether helpful. Some of the favorite sons in question, including Rhodes, Shafer and Volpe, are already in a skeptical frame of mind with respect to Nixon.

At least a few party figures believe that these and other GOP leaders will, in fact, keep their large delegations uncommitted until nearly convention eve, and that they will supply the crucial nucleus and much of the delegate mass needed to put over Rockefeller as 1968 nominee.

History is not exactly on the side of these forecasters. Favorite sons tend to melt away in the heat of pre-convention pressures which build for the front-runner who may be winning primaries and piling up delegates in a host of state conventions. If either Nixon or Reagan should get into that strong lead position by early next summer, it will not be easy for the favorite sons to stay in a resisting coalition.

One of their number, Volpe, said at the recent Governors Conference in Palm Beach that at least half the 26 GOP governors might wind up endorsing Nixon in early June if by then he had a commanding lead. Other governors gave similar indications.

Yet it is abundantly clear that many of these governors and other likely favorite sons might like to keep their huge blocks of delegates (just about enough to stop anybody from nomination) off the candidate market until the balloting begins.

Their problem may be how to stay "fluid," in the face of possible front-runner heat, without some positive encouragement from the presently reluctant Rockefeller and leaders working unmistakably in his behalf.

Some party men say Rockefeller's only hope is to do nothing and have nothing done for him until the last minute. But politics is motion. Somebody else may be nominated while some favorite sons and others are engaged in strategic inaction. (Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

Legislation Reflects Alienation Between President and Congress

By PETER LISAGOR

(Chicago Daily News Service)

WASHINGTON — The first session of the 90th Congress kicked and balked and screamed and bit heavily into the administration's money requests, but in the end, it gave President Johnson more than he had a right to expect.

Even the President admits this in those private unguarded moments when his "box-score mentality" begins to compute the fate of his program. He recently estimated that he would get 60 to 75 per cent of the legislation he requested, although he lamented the cuts in the funds needed to run them.

To the AFL-CIO convention in Florida last week, he interspersed an attack upon what he called the Republican "naysayers" with this brief confession: "Don't let anyone fool you. This has been a productive Congress. And labor's leadership has made it so."

But we need great Congresses again, not just good ones. They must match and even surpass the 89th.

The tally of legislation passed, however, fails to obscure a deep alienation between the President and the Congress, an estrangement growing out of the war in Vietnam, the urban riots, confused leadership, and a breakdown in trust and confidence.

Lost His Touch
To Sen. Thurston B. Morton (R-Ky.), a moderate critic, the President lost his touch as the "Great Manipulator" and exhibited an almost total inability to co-ordinate his programs or to establish coherent priorities.

For its part, the Congress also failed in Morton's view to "examine and analyze in a constructive way what the 89th Congress had passed rather hastily."

The Kentucky Republican, whose progressive approach has irritated some of his party's leaders in Congress, recalls that Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield had promised to concentrate in the 90th Congress on legislative oversight, a deliberate, thoughtful review of the laws passed in such profusion and haste by what LBJ called the "Fabulous 89th."

The "most tragic example" of a communications breakdown between the White House and Congress, in Morton's judgment, is that between Chairman J. W. Fulbright (D-Ark.) of the Foreign Relations Committee and the President, along with Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

"On each side there's a personal vendetta," Morton says, and the judgment is shared by many in the Senate.

The "victim of this feud" has been a "determination" in relations with Latin America, Africa, and NATO, a serious gutting of the foreign aid bill, a widening breach with French President Charles De Gaulle, according to Morton.

To Morton and other critics, the president has been understandably preoccupied with the endless problems of Vietnam. "It's only

Drew Pearson Says Sen. McCarthy Lends His Support to Drug Companies

WASHINGTON — One of the most astonishing closed-door maneuvers during the final weeks of Congress took place inside the Senate Finance Committee and involved Sen. Eugene McCarthy, the hero of the liberals, who is now challenging LBJ for President.

He joined the conservatives in an attempt to bury a drug amendment which would have saved the taxpayers at least $100 million a year and affected the price of drugs for millions of older people. The backroom maneuver also illustrates why the drug companies have been able to pocket a 21.1 per cent after-tax profit on their investment—the highest for any industry. It also explains why one of the veteran drug tycoons, George S. Squibb of E. R. Squibb and Sons, warned fellow drug manufacturers that they would face government controls if they continued to reap windfall profits from "the miseries of the sick, the aged, and the malnourished."

Both the Pharmaceutical Manufacturers Association and E. R. Squibb and sons promptly disowned the heretic, although he has been a leading light in both organizations and remains a consultant to the drug company founded by his great grandfather.

The amendment, which the Senate Finance Committee took up behind closed doors, would have required the government to purchase drugs by their generic names under the Medicare program. Generic-name drugs cost as little as one-tenth the price of brand-name drugs, although they are exactly the same drugs minus the trademark names.

Significantly, Gene McCarthy, running as an all-out liberal, voted with the conservatives to continue enriching the drug companies at the taxpayers' expense.

Ex-Aide Now Lobbyist

It happens that McCarthy's former assistant, Larry Merthan, is now a high-paid lobbyist for Charles Pfizer and Company, one of the largest drug manufacturers in the nation.

Merthan told us that he "did not recall" whether he had spoken to his former Senate boss about the generic drug amendment. He admitted that, as "director of government relations" for Pfizer, he engages in lobbying on Capitol Hill.

The amendment was pushed by Senate Finance Chairman Russell Long, D-La., who sought to require the government to buy drugs under Medicare and Medicaid at the cheaper price. As usual in parliamentary maneuvers, the opponents didn't admit they were against saving the taxpayers $100 million a year by using cheaper drugs.

Instead, Sen. Vance Hartke, D-Ind., another liberal who frequently votes behind closed doors for the special interests, introduced a motion to delay action until January 1969 for further study. The effect would have been to kill the generic-drug amendment.

The vote was close. Eight Senators voted to save the taxpayers $100 million, nine voted to let the drug companies continue collecting the $100 million for their higher-priced, brand-name drugs.

Oklahoma's astute Sen. Fred Harris was the only other Democrat to join Hartke and McCarthy in siding with the drug companies. All the Republicans—Sens. John Williams of Delaware, Frank Carlson of Kansas, Wallace Bennett of Utah, Carl Curtis of Nebraska, Thurston Morton of Kentucky and Everett Dirksen of Illinois—voted for the drug companies.

But the surprising swing vote was cast by McCarthy.

Angrily, Chairman Long announced to his committee that he would go over their heads and bring up the amendment on the Senate floor. He snapped that the drug interests would have more difficulty "buying" 51 votes, a Senate majority, than they had delivering the nine-vote majority in the committee.

When the issue was brought out in the open on the Senate floor, McCarthy discreetly switched his vote in favor of the generic-drug amendment, which easily passed the Senate. However, it was watered down the last minute by the Senate-House conference.

Tackling the French
Lester Wolff, D-N.Y., who has been demanding that France pay up its World War I debt, will go to France, probably in January, to carry his anti-De Gaulle crusade straight to the doorstep of the Elysee Palace.

Rep. Wolff has secured the support of 11 members of the House in demanding that France repay $6.8 billion still owed from World War I, and calling upon the President of the United States to take steps to secure payment.

His trip to France would be in the hopes of negotiating friendly relations with the French people, who Wolff believes do not agree with De Gaulle in his raid on the dollar or in his generally anti-American policies. Wolff has been invited by Charles de Chumbrun, a member of the Chamber of Deputies and former head of the Catholic Party, to come to France. De Chumbrun, a descendant of Lafayette, has been granted American citizenship by an Act of Congress.

Wolff's research on the French debt shows that France has an excellent record of repaying its debt from World War I and has now reduced the original $2.4 billion to $300 million unpaid. In World War II, of course, France surrendered early and was occupied by the Nazis.

In World War I, France continued to fight to the very end, with the United States acting as her chief banker and munitions supplier.

Recently Joseph M. Bowman, assistant to Secretary of the Treasury Henry Fowler, informed Rep. Wolff: "While the countries which have large World War I obligations to the United States have never denied the judicial validity of their debts, there is a view widely accepted among them that the payment of these debts should be dependent upon reparation payments from Germany."

Germany was unable to continue reparation payments after the late 1920s, and France suspended payments to the United States immediately thereafter.

It was the drain on Germany to pay reparations which led to the German economic crisis, which in turn paved the way for Hitler.

Good-Samaritan Parable

Chaplains Reply to Critics

By RAY CROMLEY

WASHINGTON (NEA) —

One thing that deeply bothers GIs back from Vietnam is the cynical attitude of some Americans toward what they've risked their lives to accomplish.

Typical is the thinking of a Navy chaplain who writes:

"I spent eight months in the combat zone with a group of men who literally worked themselves to death on humanitarian projects. We built roads, a hospital, dug water wells and did countless acts of civic improvement, such as working with Catholic and Protestant orphanages."

"Then, returning to the U.S.A., I find questions like, 'Are you still burning innocent villages and shooting civilian women and children?'"

"I'm sick to death of battlefield experts who have never left home, and of mushy Christians who have never been to an area where to believe in Christ means torture and death. . . . Let them go over and talk to the refugees from China and North Vietnam, and I'll talk with them."

May God have mercy on these political and military experts who debate in a classroom and never get more than a hundred miles from home. May God have mercy on us all for condemning so easily and commending so slowly. . .

"What frightens me is that our people are not getting a good and true picture of the Vietnamese conflict, even though I'm sure it is the best-covered news event in history. When I tell people . . . that the Communists . . . savagely blew up our hospital and maimed our men with arm-bushes, no one wants to listen. . . ."

"I hear continued criticism of our presence in Asia and continual harping to withdraw . . . why isn't there more condemnation of the raping, looting, burning and the hell the Communists are spreading south of the demilitarized zone?"

"When I tell folks back here about the work the boys are doing there—building, teaching, healing and cleaning—I get a sweet smile, a knowing look, and a reply something like this: 'Oh, yes, it is wonderful what our boys are doing. But don't you think these people are just taking advantage of us, and they really aren't in favor of us being there, and wouldn't they be just as happy and well off under the Communists?'"

"The first several times I heard this, I was too surprised to reply. Then I was too mad to talk. Now I want to go into a corner and weep!"

"How stupid can we get?"

"I know that this war is a terrible thing . . . I know that . . . Oh, Lord, how well I know this—as does anyone who has been there for a few months."

"But how would you like to have someone say to you, 'Let them go, don't help, they will be happy under communism?' It's an old truism that if we sit here smugly in our freedom and not help others preserve theirs, we wouldn't have ours very long! We're so smart we know this, but we are so dumb we don't want to do anything about it."

"There is no doubt in my mind that this is the 'Good-Samaritan Parable War!' We've got bruised and bleeding South Vietnamese desperately in need of help. And a lot of Americans fear getting involved by stopping to help. The thing that breaks my heart is that, having been one of the many who did stop and try to help a little, I straighten up and turn around, looking for our church to help—and I don't find it! What's wrong with being on the side of freedom?"

"I think the thing that burns the soul of every soldier is to some home and hear some . . . comfortable (man) . . . denounce our country's policy, and spout off about a war . . . he has no first-hand knowledge of."

More people ought to be saying "well-done" to the men we send to Vietnam.

33 Browning Terrace
Kingston, N.Y.
Dec. 15, 1967

Editor, The Freeman:

I was astounded by the deliberate inaccuracies of the press release supplied to The Freeman in regard to the public hearing held Thursday night by the Historic Landmark Commission. In truth there was quite a bit of opposition voiced at this hearing—not only about the designations of several buildings, but also about the unethical actions of the Commission in regard to proper notification to the property owners about the proposed designations.

Let's point out a few facts. There were few—if any—property owners asked if they wanted their property designated as a historical site. It would seem to be common courtesy to task an owner for his permission for such a designation. It puts considerable restrictions on the care of a building. It tells an owner what he cannot do with his property, and provides for no tax relief.

The fate of individual pieces of legislation was hardly a measure of the spreading malaise, born of doubts about the war, about the president's leadership, about the crisis in the cities. The Congress' own leadership was uninspired and divided, especially in the House. With a presidential election on next year's agenda, the prospects for controversy and stalemate are rated high.

Also, news Richter and Wer-balowsky, owners of a building at 1 North Front Street, complained about the actions of the Commission in regard to proper notice, interference by the Commission in Urban Renewal plans, high handed tactics of the Commission in dealing with owners, and they raised the question of the Constitutionality of the Commission.

A letter was read from Mr. John O'Reilly, pastor of St. Joseph's Church, which pointed out his opposition to the designation of 129 Maiden Lane, owned by the parish.

As a member of St. Joseph's parish, I expressed my opposition to the Commission's action in regard to 129 Maiden Lane, now known as the LeFever House. It was known when this building was purchased that it was intended to eventually remove this building to make way for the parish's building plans. I pointed out my resentment to the Commission's interference in parish plans. After Mr. Harry Thayer spoke regarding how he played a part in bringing pressure to bear on church officials to change the architecture of our proposed new church I pointed out my resentment to his interference in parish affairs.

I'd like to suggest several things. First I feel it's high time people like Harry Thayer and Fred Johnston stop trying to force their likes and dislikes down everyone else's throats. It's been the cry for years that the "Coyendalls kept Kingston from progressing. Is it now going to be the Thayers and Johnstons? Secondly, I feel that if this Commission cannot have some respect and consideration for the owners of these stone buildings then the Common Council should rescind the ordinance which created the Commission.

I'm not in favor of tearing down old buildings which may or may not have some historical value. By the same token I am not in favor of allowing these buildings to hamper progress in Kingston.

Lost His Touch

To Sen. Thurston B. Morton (R-Ky.), a moderate critic, the President lost his touch as the "Great Manipulator" and exhibited an almost total inability to coordinate his programs or to establish coherent priorities.

For its part, the Congress also failed in Morton's view to "examine and analyze in a constructive way what the 89th Congress had passed rather hastily."

The Kentucky Republican, whose progressive approach has irritated some of his party's leaders in Congress, recalls that Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield had promised to concentrate in the 90th Congress on legislative oversight, a deliberate, thoughtful review of the laws passed in such profusion and haste by what LBJ called the "Fabulous 89th."

The "most tragic example" of a communications breakdown between the White House and Congress, in Morton's judgment, is that between Chairman J. W. Fulbright (D-Ark.) of the Foreign Relations Committee and the President, along with Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

"On each side there's a personal vendetta," Morton says, and the judgment is shared by many in the Senate.

The "victim of this feud" has been a "determination" in relations with Latin America, Africa, and Nato, a serious gutting of the foreign aid bill, a widening breach with French President Charles De Gaulle, according to Morton.

To Morton, and other critics, the President has been understandably preoccupied with the endless problems of Vietnam. "It's only human nature to be so absorbed when you're losing 125 to 130 boys a week," says Morton.

But it works a hardship on the administration because of the president's desire to make most decisions himself.

"Most departmental heads are afraid to make decisions on their own," says Morton. "Therefore, when they have trouble getting through to the president, things get stalled and no attention is paid to some important matters."

The president wasted his diminishing capital as a trusted leader, many legislators assert, when he began to alter his estimate of the budget deficit. "He came up here and said it would be $8 billion in order to make the budget palatable," says Morton. "Now in order to push his tax bill, he says the deficit will be $35 billion. That does no good."

Worst Setback

The president's failure to get action on his tax surcharge proposal is recognized as his worst setback of the session. The 10 per cent surtax was aimed at raising $7.4 billion additional revenues in fiscal 1968 to cut into an expected $29 billion deficit, due largely to war costs. Chairman Wilbur Mills (D-Ark.) of the House Ways and Means Committee was not persuaded that the inflation threat was either great or imminent and never let the bill emerge from his committee.

The fate of individual pieces of legislation was hardly a measure of the spreading malaise, born of doubts about the war, about the president's leadership, about the crisis in the cities. The Congress' own leadership was uninspired and divided, especially in the House. With a presidential election on next year's agenda, the prospects for controversy and stalemate are rated high.

Drew Pearson Says Sen. McCarthy Lends His Support to Drug Companies

WASHINGTON — One of the most astonishing closed-door maneuvers during the final weeks of Congress took place inside the Senate Finance Committee and involved Sen. Eugene McCarthy, the hero of the liberals, who is now challenging LBJ for President.

He joined the conservatives in an attempt to bury a drug amendment which would have saved the taxpayers at least $100 million a year and affected the price of drugs for millions of older people.

The backroom maneuver also illustrates why the drug companies have been able to pocket a 21.1 per cent after-tax profit on their investment — the highest for any industry. It also explains why one of the veteran drug tycoons, George S. Squibb of E. R. Squibb and Sons, warned fellow drug manufacturers that they would face government controls if they continued to reap windfall profits from "the miseries of the sick, the aged, and the malnourished."

Both the Pharmaceutical Manufacturers Association and E. R. Squibb and sons promptly disowned the heretic, although he has been a leading light in both organizations and remains a consultant to the drug company founded by his great grandfather.

The amendment, which the Senate Finance Committee took up behind closed doors, would have required the government to purchase drugs by their generic names under the Medicare program. Generic-name drugs cost as little as one-tenth the price of brand-name drugs, although they are exactly the same drugs minus the trademark names.

Significantly, Gene McCarthy, running as an all-out liberal, voted with the conservatives to continue enriching the drug companies at the taxpayers' expense.

Ex-Aids Now Lobbyist

It happens that McCarthy's former assistant, Larry Merthan, is now a high-paid lobbyist for Charles Pfizer and Company, one of the largest drug manufacturers in the nation.

Merthan told us that he "did not recall" whether he had spoken to his former Senate boss about the generic drug amendment. He admitted that, as "director of government relations" for Pfizer, he engages in lobbying on Capitol Hill.

The amendment was pushed by Senate Finance Chairman Russell Long, D-La., who sought to require the government to buy drugs under Medicare and Medicaid at the cheaper price. As usual in parliamentary maneuvers, the opponents didn't admit they were against saving the taxpayers $100 million a year by using cheaper drugs.

Instead, Sen. Vance Hartke, D-Ind., another liberal who frequently votes behind closed doors for the special interests, introduced a motion to delay action until January 1969 for further study. The effect would have been to kill the generic-drug amendment.

The vote was close. Eight Senators voted to save the taxpayers $100 million, nine voted to let the drug companies continue collecting the $100 million for their higher-priced, brand-name drugs.

Oklahoma's astute Sen. Fred Harris was the only other Democrat to join Hartke and McCarthy in siding with the drug companies. All the Republicans—Sens. John Williams of Delaware, Frank Carlson of Kansas, Wallace Bennett of Utah, Carl Curtis of Nebraska, Thurston Morton of Kentucky and Everett Dirksen of Illinois—voted for the drug companies.

But the surprising swing vote was cast by McCarthy.

Angry, Chairman Long announced to his committee that he would go over their heads and bring up the amendment on the Senate floor. He snapped that the drug interests would have more difficulty "buying" 51 votes, a Senate majority, than they had delivering the nine-vote majority in the committee.

When the issue was brought out in the open on the Senate floor, McCarthy discreetly switched his vote in favor of the generic-drug amendment, which easily passed the Senate. However, it was watered down the last minute by the Senate-House conference.

Tackling the French
Lester Wolff, D-N.Y., who

has been demanding that France pay up its World War I debt, will go to France, probably in January, to carry his anti-De Gaulle crusade straight to the doorstep of the Elysee Palace.

Rep. Wolff has secured the support of 11 members of the House in demanding that France repay $6.8 billion still owed from World War I, and calling upon the President of the United States to take steps to secure payment.

His trip to France would be in the hopes of negotiating friendly relations with the French people, who Wolff believes do not agree with De Gaulle in his raid on the dollar or in his generally anti-American policies. Wolff has been invited by Charles de Chumbrun, a member of the Chamber of Deputies and former head of the Catholic Party, to come to France. De Chumbrun, a descendant of Lafayette, has been granted American citizenship by an Act of Congress.

Wolff's research on the French debt shows that France has an excellent record of repaying its debt from World War I and has now reduced the original $2.4 billion to $300 million unpaid. In World War II, of course, France surrendered early and was occupied by the Nazis.

In World War I, France continued to fight to the very end, with the United States acting as her chief banker and munitions supplier.

Recently Joseph M. Bowman, assistant to Secretary of the Treasury Henry Fowler, informed Rep. Wolff: "While the countries which have large World War I obligations to the United States have never denied the judicial validity of their debts, there is a view widely accepted among them that the payment of these debts should be dependent upon reparation payments from Germany."

Germany was unable to continue reparation payments after the late 1920s, and France suspended payments to the United States immediately thereafter.

It was the drain on Germany to pay reparations which led to the German economic crisis, which in turn paved the way for Hitler.

Good-Samaritan Parable

Chaplains Reply to Critics

By RAY CROMLEY

NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA) — One thing that deeply bothers GIs back from Vietnam is the cynical attitude of some Americans toward what they've risked their lives to accomplish.

Typical is the thinking of a Navy chaplain who writes:

"I spent eight months in the combat zone with a group of men who literally worked themselves to death on humanitarian projects. We built roads, a hospital, dug water wells and did countless acts of civic improvement, such as working with Catholic and Protestant orphanages."

"Then returning to the U.S.A. I find... questions like, 'Are you still burning innocent villages and shooting civilian women and children?'"

"I'm sick to death of battlefield experts who have never left home, and of mushy Christians who have never been in an area where to believe in Christ means torture and death... Let them go over and talk to the refugees from China and North Vietnam, and I'll talk with them."

May God have mercy on these political and military experts who debate in a classroom and never get more than a hundred miles from home. May God have mercy on us all for condemning so easily and commending so slowly...

"What frightens me is that our people are not getting a good and true picture of the Vietnamese conflict, even though I'm sure it is the best-covered news event in history. When I tell people... that the Communists... savagely blew up our hospital and maimed our men with ambushes, no one wants to listen."

"I hear continued criticism of our presence in Asia and continual harping to withdraw... why isn't there more condemnation of the raping, looting, burning and the hell the Communists are spreading south of the demilitarized zone?"

"When I tell folks back here about the work the boys are doing there—building, teaching, healing and cleaning—I get a sweet smile, a knowing look, and a reply something like this: 'Oh, yes, it is wonderful what our boys are doing. But don't you think these people are just taking advantage of us, and they really aren't in favor of us being there, and wouldn't they be just as happy and well off under the Communists?'"

"The first several times I heard this, I was too surprised to reply. Then I was too mad to talk. Now I want to go into a corner and weep!"

"How stupid can we get?"

"I know that this war is a terrible thing... I know that... Oh, Lord, how well I know this—as does anyone who has been there for a few months."

"But how would you like to have someone say to you, 'Let them go, don't help, they will be happy under communism!' It's an old truism that if we sit here smugly in our freedom and not help others preserve theirs, we wouldn't have ours very long! We're so smart we know this, but we are so dumb we don't want to do anything about it."

"There is no doubt in my mind that this is the 'Good-Samaritan Parable' War! We've got bruised and bleeding South Vietnamese desperately in need of help. And a lot of Americans fear getting involved by stopping to help. The thing that breaks my heart is that, having been one of the many who did stop and try to help a little, I straighten up and turn around, looking for our church to help—and I don't find it! What's wrong with being on the side of freedom?"

"I think the thing that burns the soul of every soldier is to some home and hear some... comfortable (man)... denounce our country's policy, and spout off about a war... he has no first-hand knowledge of."

More people ought to be saying "well-done" to the men we send to Vietnam.

33 Browning Terrace
Kingston, N.Y.
Dec. 15, 1967

Editor, The Freeman:

I was astounded by the deliberate inaccuracies of the press release supplied to The Freeman in regard to the public hearing held Thursday night by the Historic Landmark Commission. In truth there was quite a bit of opposition voiced at this hearing—not only about the designations of several buildings, but also about the unethical actions of the Commission in regard to proper notification to the property owners about the proposed designations.

Let's point out a few facts. There were few—if any—property owners asked if they wanted their property designated as a historical site. It would seem to be common courtesy to task an owner for his permission for such a designation. It puts considerable restrictions on the care of a building. It tells an owner what he cannot do with his property, and provides for no tax relief.

Mrs. Richter and Werbalowsky, owners of a building at 1 North Front Street, complained about the actions of the Commission in regard to proper notice, interference by the Commission in Urban Renewal plans, high handed tactics of the Commission in dealing with owners, and they raised the question of the Constitutionality of the Commission.

A letter was read from Mr. John O'Reilly, pastor of St. Joseph's Church, which pointed out his opposition to the designation of 129 Maiden Lane, owned by the parish.

As a member of St. Joseph's parish, I expressed my opposition to the Commission's action in regard to 129 Maiden Lane, now known as the LeFever House. It was known when this building was purchased that it was intended to eventually remove this building to make way for the parish's building plans. I pointed out my resentment to the Commission's interference in parish plans. After Mr. Harry Thayer spoke regarding how he played a part in bringing pressure to bear on church officials to change the architecture of our proposed new church I pointed out my resentment to his interference in parish affairs.

I'd like to suggest several things. First I feel it's high time people like Harry Thayer and Fred Johnston stop trying to force their likes and dislikes down everyone else's throats. It's been the cry for years that the Cockeydalls kept Kingston from progressing. Is it now going to be the Thayers and Johnstons? Secondly, I feel that if this Commission cannot have some respect and consideration for the owners of these stone buildings then the Common Council should rescind the ordinance which created the Commission.

I'm not in favor of tearing down old buildings which may or may not have some historical value. By the same token I am not in favor of allowing these buildings to hamper progress in Kingston.

No Delivery, No Money Onteora Board Edict

"No delivery, no money," ed responsibility of public relations was the candid expression of one member of the Onteora Board of Education as it voted a unanimous "no" to paying building equipment contractors' bills for merchandise not yet received.

For sometime the board has expressed dissatisfaction in not being able to carry out a full educational program due to delays in construction of the addition to the high school.

Delays in deliveries of such things as library tables, bookshelves and installation of science equipment have brought the board to the point where it is strongly adverse to paying for partially filled orders especially for equipment that is not usable until the order is completed.

Meeting Tuesday night at the West Hurley School, the board agreed further to deny a salary adjustment request made by Walden K. Post who claimed a year's instruction while serving in the military as creditable teaching experience. All members voted against the proposal with two abstentions by Jack Kahn and Charles Newcomb. Most felt the military service instruction was in no way compatible with present teaching assignments.

Dr. Harold Snyder, superintendent, stressed the fact that there are many on the staff with similar military experience.

Two Resignations

In other business, the board accepted the resignation of Paul Karasow, music teacher and approved resignations from the following non-teaching personnel: Bruce Stoutenburgh, Raymond Allison, Howard Dunn and Hilda Herdman.

UCCC Five Continues Games at Auditorium

Ulster County Community College will continue to play its home games at the Kingston Municipal Auditorium, The Freeman learned early this afternoon.

A meeting was held at the auditorium today in which the city put forth its proposal for a $75 rental for each game when admission is charged.

The problem seems to be one of budgets, or when they're drawn up, Kingston's budget runs from December to December while UCCC's runs from September to September. The college has claimed that it has no money in its athletic budget to pay the city for use of the auditorium which previously had been free as was the admission.

Shotgun Blasts Cut Service On Cablevision

Cablevision programming was suspended for more than an hour yesterday following the shotgunning of the main trunk cable.

William Krajci, Cablevision manager, said programming was interrupted for one hour and 23 minutes Monday afternoon when the main cable was damaged by shotgun blasts. He attributed the interruption to two frustrated hunters who took their "no luck" revenge out on the TV viewers.

Krajci said an inspection of the damaged cable indicated that more than one shot had been fired. He said Cablevision crews reported seeing two hunters leaving the area shortly after the blast.

Constant monitoring enabled technicians to localize and replace the damaged cable within a short time, the Cablevision manager said. Krajci apologized for the inconvenience caused viewers.

The incident occurred about 12:30 p. m. in the Snake Hill area near Port Ewen.

Would Use Force To Prevent Riot In Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The president of troubled San Francisco State College said Monday he would use "necessary force" including police, to prevent a full-scale campus riot.

However, President John Summerskill said he feels he made the right decision in halting classes during a student outbreak Dec. 6 rather than calling in city police. Some state leaders praised him for that action, others called for his dismissal.

Summerskill was among several college administrators to testify on recent campus disturbances at a special hearing of the State Assembly Interim Committee on Education.

He said a large contingent of police were ready to aid in controlling the Dec. 6 trouble if needed.

"If at that time or any time we felt we were confronting a situation that was riotous and would lead to serious danger to people, we would have no hesitation of bringing in the necessary force to deal with the situation," he said.

Glenn S. Dumke, chancellor of the state college system, said he feels the campus police forces should be larger and more skilled.

He said there are 113 security officers on the 18 campuses and urged funds for more officers, especially ones trained in crowd control.

Wants State To Pay for Inoculation

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — If the state requires schoolchildren to be inoculated against polio, then the state should pay the medical bills in the event of side effects or the subsequent appearance of the disease, say the parents of two schoolchildren in suburban Colonie.

Mrs. and Mrs. Richard Shadick said Monday they would allow their sons, Richard Jr., 7, and Jamie, 5, to receive the shots if they had a guarantee the state would assume the responsibility for the repercussions.

The children had suffered ill effects in previous polio inoculations, they said.

Colonia school officials have given the couple until Thursday to comply with the law.

TODAY'S THOUGHT

By JIM GILPATRIC

Thank you . . . for your letter. You asked for a report on my observations and impressions of Christmas. They are many and varied, good and bad, encouraging and sad. Here in cropped words is a brief outline . . . It is sad to see the miracles and mysteries of Christmas invaded by the fraud of crass commercialism. The holiday hysteria of searching, surging crowds in the selling season used to start at Thanksgiving. Now, in many areas, it has been stretched to start at Halloween. It saddens me to see war toys such as 50 calibre plastic machine gun-grenade launchers given to impressionable children. Glorifying a make-believe violence of war in the very opposite of the "peace on earth" message of Christmas.

I am glad however to see and sense the Christmas spirit of multitudes of people who show and share the meaning of Christmas. I am glad to see so many families attending church services together, hand in hand and worshipping together. No hilarity; simply a joyous commemoration of the holy day celebrating the birth of the Holy Infant, so tender and mild . . . My own ho-ho-ho and a Merry Christmas seems so meaningless when heard against the "Behold, I bring you tidings of great joy, which shall be to all people. For unto you is born this day in the city of David a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord." . . . Sincerely,

SANTA CLAUS

No Delivery, No Money Onteora Board Edict

"No delivery, no money." That was the candid expression of one member of the Onteora Board of Education as it voted a unanimous "no" to paying building equipment contractors' bills for merchandise not yet received.

For sometime the board has expressed dissatisfaction in not being able to carry out a full educational program due to delays in construction of the addition to the high school.

Delays in deliveries of such things as library tables, bookshelves and installation of science equipment have brought the board to the point where it is strongly adverse to paying for partially filled orders especially for equipment that is not usable until the order is completed.

Meeting Tuesday night at the West Hurley School, the board agreed further to deny a salary adjustment request made by Waldren K. Post who claimed a year's instruction while serving in the military as creditable teaching experience. All members voted against the proposal with two abstentions by Jack Kahn and Charles Newcomb. Most felt the military service instruction was in no way compatible with present teaching assignments.

Dr. Harold Snyder, superintendent, stressed the fact that there are many on the staff with similar military experience.

Two Resignations

In other business, the board accepted the resignation of Paul Karasow, music teacher and approved resignations from the following non-teaching personnel: Bruce Stoutenburgh, Raymond Allison, Howard Dunn and Hilda Herdman.

Another resignation came from Paul Waser, from his public relations post. Dr. Snyder explained that Waser, who will continue in a full-time teaching position, felt that the addied responsibility of public relations was interfering with his teaching duties.

He suggested Waser be given a letter of commendation for his work.

A petition of the newly-formed Onteora Lions Club to conduct a sale of identification tags and bracelets within the school system was denied. The practice, if carried out, would be in violation of board policy which is based on the state education law, the board felt.

A request for a sabbatical leave, made by Bernard Carpinelli for study and professional advancement for the 1968-69 school year, was tabled. Last month a similar request made by Charles Britting was denied pending the establishment of procedures with the Onteora Teachers Association.

Dr. Snyder announced that a lay committee to study transportation needs has been appointed. Named to serve are:

Robert Nussbaum and Harold Lauterbach, both of West Hurley; Michael Black, Shokan; John Molloy, West Shokan; Arthur Sampson, Olive Bridge; Philip Halzell, Phoenicia; Mason Gosso, Shandaken; Edward Bungay, Phoenicia; Arlos Every, Wittenberg; Charles Kullman, Donald Twine and Gerald Kreisberg, all of Woodstock.

Approval was given the hiring of Nicholas Buhalis, a non-certified teacher and Doris Toczydlowski, certified.

UCCC Five Continues Games at Auditorium

Ulster County Community College will continue to play its home games at the Kingston Municipal Auditorium. The Freeman learned early this afternoon.

A meeting was held at the auditorium today in which the city put forth its proposal for a $75 rental for each game when admission is charged.

The problem seems to be one of budgets, or when they're drawn up, Kingston's budget runs from December to December while UCCC's runs from September to September. The college has claimed that it has no money in its athletic budget to pay the city for use of the auditorium which previously had been free as was the admission.

Practice, Play There

The Senators, who sport a 7-0 record, practice and play at the auditorium which is under city jurisdiction through the city clerk and the Common Council Building and Supply Committee.

Chairman of that committee, William Davis (D-13th Ward) wants the college to pay a $75 rental fee for each game when it charges admission. Davis says the city must pay for cleanup and heating of the building when its used by the college. Thursday night's crowd for the Ulster Sullivan game was estimated at 1,200, the largest at the auditorium in years.

The college had originally offered the city a $750 score clock in return for the use of the auditorium. This was reportedly rejected by the city which has an offer from the Coca Cola Company of a score clock as a gift.

Al DiBernardo, college athletic director, said the college has a very small athletic budget and implements it through charging admission at the games for adults. DiBernardo notes that at Ulster's first game it took in $73, $50 of which went to pay officials. The game after that it collected $113 with another $50 going out to officials. Thursday night's game, of course, was the most profitable, but additional money went into the athletic fund.

Thursday's game, in fact, almost didn't come off, due to the controversy.

Another Meeting

It was reported that the city had refused the college the use of the auditorium. City recreation director Andrew J. Murphy III reportedly opened the doors of the auditorium so the game could be played.

A meeting is scheduled between the opposing parties before Tuesday night's game.

Burglars Bungle

BURLINGTON, Iowa (AP) — Some burglars bungled a house job here last weekend that should have been as easy as opening a door.

But somehow, Lora Gorman, told police, the thieves never got inside.

They gave up after trying to open the door by putting a two-inch hole in it with a drill that couldn't get all the way through and unsuccessfully attempting to pry open the window.

Miss Gorman said the door wasn't locked and neither was the window.

Shotgun Blasts Cut Service On Cablevision

Cablevision programming was suspended for more than an hour yesterday following the shotgunning of the main trunk cable.

William Krajci, Cablevision manager, said programming was interrupted for one hour and 23 minutes Monday afternoon when the main cable was damaged by shotgun blasts. He attributed the interruption to two frustrated hunters who took their "no luck" revenge out on the TV viewers.

Krajci said an inspection of the damaged cable indicated that more than one shot had been fired. He said Cablevision crews reported seeing two hunters leaving the area shortly after the blast.

30 Demonstrators Arrested At Oakland Induction Site

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — At least 30 demonstrators, including folk singer Joan Baez, her mother and author Kay Boyle, were arrested today as crowds attempted to block entrances of the Oakland Armed Forces Induction Center.

It was the second straight day of outbreaks in the wake of bloody violence during Stop The Draft Week in mid-October.

It also was the second arrest for Miss Baez, who was taken into custody Oct. 16 as five days of demonstrations began at the center.

Police said attempts were made today to stop buses carrying young men bound for armed service, but all the inductees were delivered inside the building.

Miss Baez served a 10-day jail sentence after her October arrest.

Officers estimated that 350 persons were in the vicinity of the center as the arrests were made.

More than 200 were arrested Monday as the new demonstrations began.

All were scheduled for arraignment in Municipal Court today, booked mostly on suspicion of trespassing, disturbing the peace, failure to disperse and disorderly conduct.

TODAY'S THOUGHT

By JIM GILPATRIC

Thank you . . . for your letter. You asked for a report on my observations and impressions of Christmas. They are many and varied, good and bad, encouraging and sad. Here in cropped words is a brief outline. . . . It is sad to see the miracles and mysteries of Christmas invaded by the fraud of crass commercialism. The holiday hysteria of searching, surging crowds in the selling season used to start at Thanksgiving. Now, in many areas, it has been stretched to start at Halloween. It saddens me to see war toys such as 50 calibre plastic machine gun-grenade launchers given to impressionable children. Glorifying a make-believe violence of war in the very opposite of the "peace on earth" message of Christmas.

I am glad however to see and sense the Christmas spirit of multitudes of people who show and share the meaning of Christmas. I am glad to see so many families attending church services together, hand in hand and worshipping together. No hilarity; simply a joyous commemoration of the holy day celebrating the birth of the Holy Infant, so tender and mild. . . . My own ho-ho-ho and a Merry Christmas seems so meaningless when heard against the "Behold, I bring you tidings of great joy, which shall be to all people. For unto you is born this day in the city of David a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord." . . . Sincerely,

SANTA CLAUS

Whales Sighted

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — The first California gray whales migrating from the Bering Sea to breeding grounds in Baja California have been sighted off San Diego.

Rangers at the Cabrillo National Monument say they've sighted 17 whales. The whales once were in danger of extinction but are prospering under an international agreement which protects them from slaughter. They return north in March.

Will Bounce Back

Ford said auto sales in the United States this year would wind up at about 8.5 million cars, including some 785,000 imports, but he added a prediction that the market would bounce back for a 9.3 million sales year in 1968.

Ford said the recent 50-day national strike of Ford's auto building plants was "unnecessary as it was costly but there was nothing within reason we could have done to avoid it or to settle it much sooner."

The Ford chairman added, "Today, more than three months after the beginning of the strike, its effects are still hampering our sales."

Ford announced a drastic reduction in his firm's building and expansion plans for 1968 with $575 million allocated to next year, compared with $680 million this year and $693 million last year.

He explained, "Because we have completed the most urgent of our facilities program, our capital spending next year will be lower than it has been in a number of years."

Three Killed In Houston Steel Mill

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Tons of molten pig iron dumped by accident killed three men and injured 30 at the Armco steel mill.

The metal, heated to 2,800 degrees Fahrenheit, spilled 40 feet from a giant ladle Monday into an open hearth area and splattered 120 feet.

Leo Bell, 53, and Houston H. Kreuger, 55, both of Houston, died about seven hours after suffering burns Monday.

A third employee, Norman E. Doss, 49, of Houston, died early today.

Of the 30 workers suffering injuries, 17 remained in hospitals many in critical condition. Attendees said several may be blinded. Others were treated at the plant for minor injuries and one was dismissed after hospital treatment.

Burke Huber, plant assistant safety supervisor, said most of the injuries resulted from clothes set afire by the metal.

Officials reported about 440 persons work at the mill but did not say how many were present at the time of the accident.

Spokesmen unofficially blamed the accident on a bent mechanical arm that held the bowl-shaped ladle in place.

Plant Manager, W.M. Rankin said an overhead electric crane supported the ladle that carried 30 tons of molten iron from special rail cars to the hearth. The crane lifts the ladle to the second-floor level, 40 feet off the ground.

Set New Policies For Civil Rights

By JACK MILLER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) —

Changes forced by Southern congressmen in the government's school desegregation policies actually will strengthen the federal integration effort, says the official in charge.

The whole civil rights compliance procedure will become "more orderly, more disciplined and will provide greater certainty for the school districts involved," said Peter Libassi, director of the Office of Civil Rights of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. Libassi said in a Monday interview: "Now, when we start a case, we'll have to conclude it or go on indefinitely."

The new policies, agreed to by HEW Secretary John W. Gardner, provide the department will not—with two exceptions—cut off federal funds to any school district between Sept. 1 and June 1 of the school year for failure to comply with the 1964 Civil Rights Act. Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., on receiving the Gardner assurance, dropped his Southern-backed proposed amendment to the federal aid to education bill. His proposal would have barred the government from cutting off or deferring federal funds during a school year.

A school district is told in writing by March 1 before the year of the cutoff that it probably is not in compliance.

A district is given notice of opportunity for a hearing on alleged noncompliance by Sept. 1 in the school year of the cutoff. The procedures now affect mainly Southern school districts. But they will take on meaning in the North under the new effort HEW will begin early next year to check for violations of the Civil Rights Act in the largely segregated big-city Northern school systems.

Southern congressmen often have sought to reduce the government's authority in its program to end dual school systems for whites and Negroes in the South.

Administration officials feared Russell's amendment to the aid to education bill would have seriously weakened the compliance program.

George Romney (2nd L), first avowed candidate for the 1968 Republican presidential nomination, talks with a group of Russian professors, journalists, scientists and industry leaders during a visit to Moscow's House of Friendship on Monday. A Man and A Woman

Two Fataals on Area Roads

A 24-year-old Orange County man was injured fatally and three members of his family were hurt Monday in a high-way accident a mile from his home, and a 47-year-old Columbia County woman pedestrian was killed when hit by a car on Route 9 in the Town of Scho-dack.

Highland State Police investigated a car-pedestrian accident on Route 9W at the intersection of Western Avenue in Marlboro which resulted in injuries suffered by a 62-year-old man.

Terrence Ridgely of New Hampton was pronounced dead at Horton Memorial Hospital, Middletown. He was fatally hurt last night when his car went out of control and struck two trees on a Maple Avenue curve, according to State Police.

Ridgely's wife, Gloria, 26; a daughter, Jennie, 3; a son, Frank, 5, and a 17-year-old youth who lived with the family, Mark Sargent, all were reported in fair condition at the Horton Hospital.

Mrs. Marian Conner of Val-bia was killed Monday night when struck by a car while at-tempting to cross heavily-trav-eled Route 9 in the Town of Scho-dack. She was pronounced dead at the scene by Dr. Ira Van Wormer, Rensselaer Coun-seller.

State Police at East Greenbush said Mrs. Conner was walking across the highway at 5:30 p. m. when she was hit by a car traveling north and operated by Claude Gardina, 55, of Ghent.

Gardina told investigators that he swerved to his right to try to avoid the woman who was wearing dark clothing, but by the time he saw the pedestrian it was too late.

Frank Conn Jr., 62, of Route 9W, Milton, was injured at 5:45 p. m. yesterday when he was hit by a car as he was walking across Route 9W at Western Avenue in Marlboro. Conn was taken to St. Luke's Hospital in Newburgh and treated for a sprained shoulder and broken collarbone, according to High-land State Police.

Ironically, the car was operated by Robert Conn Jr., 73, of Marlboro, a relative of the injured man. Trooper Robert Whalen said the car was traveling north when the pedestrian was hit. Trooper C. J. Bebenese investigated.

Conway Wisdom, 69, of Napanoch, was cited by Ellenville State Police Monday afternoon for driving a car while intoxicated and failure to yield the right of way after a collision on Route 209 at the intersection of Route 55 in Napanoch. The summons are returnable later before Wawarsing Town Justice Herbert Poppel.

State Trooper John Huttoon said Terry Kortright, 20, of Napanoch, was driving south on Route 209 and Wisdom was traveling in the opposite direction when he reportedly made a left turn in the path of the other car and the vehicles collided. Huttoon said there were no injuries.

Carl Hesse, 40, of West Camp, was injured at 1:30 a. m. today when his car went out of control on Route 9W near Glasco Turnpike and slammed into a utility pole on the left side of the highway. Sergeant Charles Bundschuh said Hesse was cited by Trooper Roy Martinussen for failure to keep to the right.

The summons is returnable before Saugerties Town Justice Calvin Cody. Troopers said the car was traveling north at the time of the mishap. Hesse was treated at Kingston Hospital for facial lacerations and injuries of the knees.

MD's Baby Rationing Plan Makes Him Center of Furor

STANFORD, Calif. (AP) — Dr. William Bradford Shockley said today a baby rationing plan he outlined in a recent speech has made him the innocent center of a furor.

Many indignant persons, he said, got the impression that he had urged the sterilization of American women as a population control measure and the curtailment of welfare and school improvement programs for slum Negroes.

Shockley said he didn't urge any such thing.

The controversy arose from a lecture the Stanford University physicist gave last week at McMaster University in Hamilton, Ont.

Shared Nobel Prize

Shockley, who shared the Nobel Prize in 1956 as co-inventor of the transistor, told the audience that he personally had "no eugenics recommendations save that as a nation we start to explore publicly possible solutions to human quality problems."

But he went on to discuss what he called a "thinking exercise" a combination of two birth control proposals, one by Dr. Kenneth Boulding of the Institute of Behavioral Science at the University of Colorado and the other by the Population Council.

As modified and offered to the audience by Shockley this is how the plan would work:

The public would vote on what rate of population growth it wants. This would let the Census Bureau determine how many children each couple could have and still keep within the prescribed national growth rate. Certificates would be issued to all married couples.

All girls would be temporarily sterilized by time capsule contraceptives. When a woman and her husband wanted to have a child, the contraceptive would be removed and they would have to turn in a certificate.

After the child was born, the contraceptive would be reinserted. Couples not wishing to have children or not wanting as many as the law allowed could sell their certificates on the open market.

"After you have recovered from any emotion-provoking jar from this unfamiliar combination of concepts," Shockley told his McMaster listeners, "do apply your brain to the time capsule child certificate proposal."

"What would be its consequence? Only people who want and can afford children will have them."

Drop in I.Q.

Turning to the problem of large families in Negro areas, Shockley said studies he has made suggest that "high illegitimate ghetto birthrates have caused Negro genetic potential for intelligence to drop five or more I.Q. points compared to whites between World War I and now."

He said, "I approve of anti-poverty programs in general, and Head Start in particular," but added:

"Unrealistic hope for speeding the Negro's struggle for equality before the real causes of his disadvantages are known may unwittingly inflict untold human suffering on the Negroes themselves."

Spellman Leaves $30,000, to Church

NEW YORK (AP) — Francis Cardinal Spellman willed his entire estate, estimated at about $30,000, to his successor as Archbishop of New York for the benefit of the archdiocese.

The will dated April 30, 1960, was filed for probate Tuesday in Manhattan Surrogate's court. Cardinal Spellman died Dec. 2 at the age of 78 of a stroke. His successor is yet to be appointed.

The petition for probate stated that the Cardinal's estate amounted to not more than $30,000, including a legacy which the Cardinal intended to transfer to the archdiocese, but which he had not yet received when he died.

Filed with the will were waivers from Cardinal Spellman's immediate survivors, two brothers and two sisters, who consented to probate of the will as drawn.

A spokesman for the archdiocese said Cardinal Spellman already had donated to the archdiocese or to religious, charitable or educational institutions most of his personal possessions—including a stamp collection, a collection of medals, royalties from various writings, books, and ecclesiastical vestments and jewelry.

Salvation Army To Distribute Holiday Gifts

The Salvation Army's annual Christmas distribution consisting of food certificates, toys, and children's clothing, will be observed Wednesday. It was announced today by Brigadier Jacob Hohn of the local Salvation Army Corps.

Starting time for distribution will be 7:30 p. m., with a program of entertainment, music, and singing also on the agenda. Music will be supplied by Clifford Scholl's Accordion School pupils.

Thomas W. Reynolds Jr., chairman of the advisory board of the Salvation Army, will deliver a brief message. Brigadier Jacob Hohn will speak also.

It is expected that approximately 400 children will receive toys. Food certificates are issued to various local food markets, with amounts designated according to the number in the family.

Brigadier Hohn said that 1800 Sunshine Bags were distributed to 20 institutions, including hospitals, nursing homes, and the Napanoch Correctional Institution. The bags were packed by members of the Salvation Army Advisory Board and personnel of the Salvation Army Corps.

Named DuPont Chemical Head

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP) — Production operator to head of the firm for Charles Brelsford McCoy, Du Pont Co., the nation's largest cellophane producer, was a slow but steady journey of 35 years. McCoy, born 58 years ago in Oakland, Calif., was named president and chief executive officer of the 165-year-old firm on Monday, succeeding Lamont du Pont Copeland, who becomes chairman of the board. To do it, McCoy overcame a tradition of family leadership in what is one of the world's largest privately-owned producers of chemicals, chemical products and synthetics. He is only the second non-Du Pont to head the firm. His father, John W. McCoy, was a longtime Du Pont executive who retired in 1948 as a vice president. He died in 1961. When McCoy joined Du Pont as a production worker in the Spruance plant in Richmond, Va., he already had earned a bachelor's degree from the University of Virginia and a master's from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. While gathering wide experience through work in various departments and divisions in the United States and overseas, McCoy was building a reputation as a quiet, restrained executive.

Insurance Companies Selling Mutual Funds

BY JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The entrance of insurance companies into the mutual fund sales industry is partial admission that one of the keystones of life insurance—a guaranteed, fixed return—may be surrendering to inflation.

The decisions by which John Hancock and New England Mutual have moved into mutual funds were really made by their customers, potential and actual. The companies have had to accept the dictate of the buyer.

In the past two decades Americans have shown a growing interest in equity investments, in shares of stock that grow or shrink rather than remain fixed in the manner of life insurance payouts.

Prices Doubled — These people have been liberally rewarded, for stock prices have doubled on average in the past 10 years of economic expansion and millions of people have made their fortunes, large and small. The word has spread.

Since 1952 the shareowner population of America has grown from about 6.5 million to 22 million, expanding at the rate of nine per cent a year or nine times the gain in adult population during that time.

In the same period the insurance companies have seen their relative share of the dollar decline steadily, although the industry has continued to grow and remain profitable. It simply hasn't grown as fast as the fund industry.

Mutual funds, which invest in scores of stocks for their customers, have come out of nowhere, possessing in 1945 assets of less than $500 million but owning close to $40 billion in securities 22 years later.

As the insurance companies explain their moves, they are hardly abandoning the concept of a guaranteed return, as from a life insurance policy. Neither are they totally embracing the equity concept. Instead they are recognizing that mutual funds in various combinations with life insurance may be more suited to a buyer's needs and aspirations than a fixed return.

This, of course, is especially true during inflation, which some analysts fear may be with us for many years. If this turns out to be true, the fixed return would really be a shrinking return.

The insurance companies hope to offset this limitation both for themselves and their customers by establishing their own funds or by purchasing existing ones, and then offering shares for sale.

The implications of these moves are enormous. Some existing mutual funds are welcoming the new competition, for the impact on prices of a new flow of funds is bound to be bullish.

Impact Not Seen — The full impact on prices cannot be foreseen yet, but it would appear that the battle for stocks will become very aggressive. Some analysts feel there will be a stock shortage, as billions of dollars seek a limited supply of stocks.

These analysts feel that the insurers will continue to operate in their old conservative manner and invest in blue chips, many of which are now lagging in price behind the newer, more glamorous stocks.

As their mutual funds invest more and more money in blue chips, it can be assumed that the insurance companies themselves will also invest more money in the same stocks.

The net effect could be to force price earnings ratios higher. Some glamor stocks now sell for 50 times earnings while some fundamentally sound stocks sell for only 10 to 12 times earnings. These ratios could be changed upward.

Says Harvesters Of Food Lack Enough to Eat

BOSTON (AP) — A labor leader organizing grape pickers in California says persons who harvest the food don't get enough to eat.

"The American public should consider that those people who harvest and cultivate the food in this country don't have enough food to eat," Cesar Chavez said Monday.

Chavez, president of the 15,000-member United Farm Workers Organizing Committee, said the California legislature is hindering union attempts to improve the lot of the workers.

"We don't have a single champion in the California State Legislature, and we don't look to the state government for help, only harassment," he said.

His visit to Boston was one stop on a national tour of cities where boycotts are being organized against grapes grown by producers who do not employ union labor.

He conferred with four officials of his union who are working in Boston, delivered a speech at Harvard University, and met with Richard Cardinal Cushing and Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., at a reception.

Seven supermarket chains in Greater Boston, as well as 300 smaller stores, had agreed to boycott grapes grown by the Giannarra Corp., Chavez said. That firm is California's largest producer.

January Launching
CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The first model of a manned lunar landing craft has been moved to a launch pad, aiming for a mid-January launching date.

The space agency and Grumman Aircraft Engineering Co., the prime contractor, placed the first Lunar Module atop a Saturn I rocket on launch pad 37B Sunday.

The rocket is the same one that was on pad 34 last Jan. 27 when three astronauts died as fire erupted in their Apollo 1 spacecraft.

Lindby Favors Nature
NEW YORK (AP) — The ever-increasing emphasis of aviator who helped lift man into science to improve their stand the air age with a solo flight and maintain their vigor, across the Atlantic 40 years ago Lindbergh said in an article probably would choose nature over science if he were starting a career today.

Charles A. Lindbergh says man has insulated himself from the wilderness that produced him. "Our emphasis of science has resulted in alarming rises in aside wild areas for animals in world populations that demand danger of becoming extinct."

Strong Growth Stock for Present to Grandson

Q—I would appreciate it if for a young man with several years to go before his college experience. I've been reading your column for years, but am still not smart enough to select a good stock for a 13-year-old boy.—T. B.

A—I think you are very smart indeed to know your own limitations and admit them. You might be surprised to know how comparatively few persons of your grandson's birthday and I believe that at his age you should buy for him a strong, growing stock with a good likelihood of continuing that pattern. Such a stock is American Hospital Supply, which is the leader in its field and represents a shrewd and aggressive merchandiser. The company is in a business that seems certain to expand, with an assist from Medicare. Since their 1960 high the shares have increased in value 300 per cent and, although this rate of gain may not be fully maintained, I believe that American Hospital will continue to do extremely well over the period ahead. I have followed this stock closely for years and I firmly believe that it is an excellent choice.

(Mr. Spear cannot answer all mail personally, but will answer all questions possible in his column.)

Enjoy every one of them with an AUTOMATIC DISHWASHER

- 1 No Scraping — Just shake off large particles of food into garbage.
- 2 No Rinsing — New Dishwashers don't need it.
- 3 Thorough Cleaning — A Dishwasher gets dishes truly clean by using water hot enough to sanitize — much hotter than your hands could stand—then utensils are rinsed and rinsed again in hot hot water.
- 4 No Drying — Dishes, Glassware, Silver come out sparkling clean without a water spot or smudge.
- 5 Less Handling — means less breakage.
- 6 Smaller families can store dishes in the dishwasher — wash only once a day.
- 7 College Laboratory Tests have shown that Kitchen Cleanup Time takes only about 1/2 as long when you use a Dishwasher. That's time a busy housewife (or husband) can use to good advantage.

Go see your local dealer about an Automatic Dishwasher for your family. Do it right away for a more enjoyable Holiday Season.

Insurance Companies Selling Mutual Funds

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The entrance of insurance companies into the mutual fund sales industry is partial admission that one of the keystones of life insurance—a guaranteed, fixed return—may be surrendering to inflation.

The decisions by which John Hancock and New England Mutual have moved into mutual funds were really made by their customers, potential and actual. The companies have had to accept the dictate of the buyer.

In the past two decades Americans have shown a growing interest in equity investments, in shares of stock that grow or shrink rather than remain fixed in the manner of life insurance payouts.

Prices Doubled
These people have been liberally rewarded, for stock prices have doubled on average in the past 10 years of economic expansion and millions of people have made their fortunes, large and small. The word has spread.

Since 1952 the shareowner population of America has grown from about 6.5 million to 23 million, expanding at the rate of nine per cent a year or nine times the gain in adult population during that time.

In the same period the insurance companies have seen their relative share of the dollar decline steadily, although the industry has continued to grow and remain profitable. It simply hasn't grown as fast as the fund industry.

Mutual funds, which invest in scores of stocks for their customers, have come out of nowhere, possessing in 1945 assets of less than $500 million but owning close to $40 billion in securities 22 years later.

As the insurance companies explain their moves, they are hardly abandoning the concept of a guaranteed return, as from a life insurance policy. Neither are they totally embracing the equity concept.

Instead, they are recognizing that mutual funds in various combinations with life insurance may be more suited to a buyer's needs and aspirations than a fixed return.

This, of course, is especially true during inflation, which some analysts fear may be with us for many years. If this turns out to be true, the fixed return would really be a shrinking return.

The insurance companies hope to offset this limitation both for themselves and their customers by establishing their own funds or by purchasing existing ones, and then offering shares for sale.

The implications of these moves are enormous. Some existing mutual funds are welcoming the new competition, for the impact on prices of a new flow of funds is bound to be bullish.

Impact Not Seen
The full impact on prices cannot be foreseen yet, but it would appear that the battle for stocks will become very aggressive. Some analysts feel there will be a stock shortage, as billions of dollars seek a limited supply of stocks.

These analysts feel that the insurers will continue to operate in their old conservative manner and invest in blue chips, many of which are now lagging in price behind the newer, more glamorous stocks.

As their mutual funds invest more and more money in blue chips, it can be assumed that the insurance companies themselves will also invest more money in the same stocks.

The net effect could be to force price earnings ratios higher. Some glamour stocks now sell for 30 times earnings while some fundamentally sound stocks sell for only 10 to 12 times earnings. These ratios could be changed upward.

but steady journey of 35 years. McCoy, born 58 years ago in Oakland, Calif., was named president and chief executive officer of the 165-year-old firm on Monday, succeeding Lamont du Pont Copeland, who becomes chairman of the board.

To do it, McCoy overcame a tradition of family leadership in what is one of the world's largest privately-owned producers of chemicals, chemical products and synthetics. He is only the second non-Du Pont to head the firm.

His father, John W. McCoy, was a longtime Du Pont executive who retired in 1948 as a vice president. He died in 1961.

When McCoy joined Du Pont as a production worker in the Spruance plant in Richmond, Va., he already had earned a bachelor's degree from the University of Virginia and a master's from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

While gathering wide experience through work in various departments and divisions in the United States and overseas, McCoy was building a reputation as a quiet, restrained executive.

"We don't have a single champion in the California State Legislature, and we don't look to the state government for help, only harassment," he said.

His visit to Boston was one stop on a national tour of cities where boycotts are being organized against grapes grown by producers who do not employ union labor.

He conferred with four officials of his union who are working in Boston, delivered a speech at Harvard University and met with Richard Cardinal Cushing and Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., at a reception.

Seven supermarket chains in Greater Boston, as well as 30 smaller stores, had agreed to boycott grapes grown by the Giumarra Corp., Chavez said. That firm is California's largest producer.

Chavez, president of the 15,000-member United Farm Workers Organizing Committee, said the California legislature is hindering union attempts to improve the lot of the workers.

"We don't have a single champion in the California State Legislature, and we don't look to the state government for help, only harassment," he said.

His visit to Boston was one stop on a national tour of cities where boycotts are being organized against grapes grown by producers who do not employ union labor.

He conferred with four officials of his union who are working in Boston, delivered a speech at Harvard University and met with Richard Cardinal Cushing and Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., at a reception.

Seven supermarket chains in Greater Boston, as well as 30 smaller stores, had agreed to boycott grapes grown by the Giumarra Corp., Chavez said. That firm is California's largest producer.

Holiday Fun Promised At YMCA Winter Camp

A new type of program is scheduled for youth during the Christmas vacation. The first Winter Day Camp for boys and girls six through 10 years will be held daily from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the YMCA building on Broadway.

Five days of fun, swimming and fellowship start Tuesday, Dec. 26 through Saturday, Dec. 30. The program will include archery, BB gun, trampoline, swim instruction, stunts, games, crafts, Indian lore, and singing.

Campers will be assigned by age and sex to a counselor, who served on the summer camp staff. The counselor will move with their own group and lead or instruct campers during the day in all of their activities.

Items to Bring

Campers bring their own bag lunch, bathing suit and caps for girls. Noon beverage, towels and insurance are all a part of the program.

The daily program starts with flag raising on the upper gym followed by announcements and the Thought for the Day. Five one half hour activities periods end the morning session. Lunch will be eaten using folding chairs and tables on the upper gym. After lunch group singing, trading post, and stunts time is scheduled. One activity period will be held and then five groups go for their recreational swim followed by the other five groups in the next period.

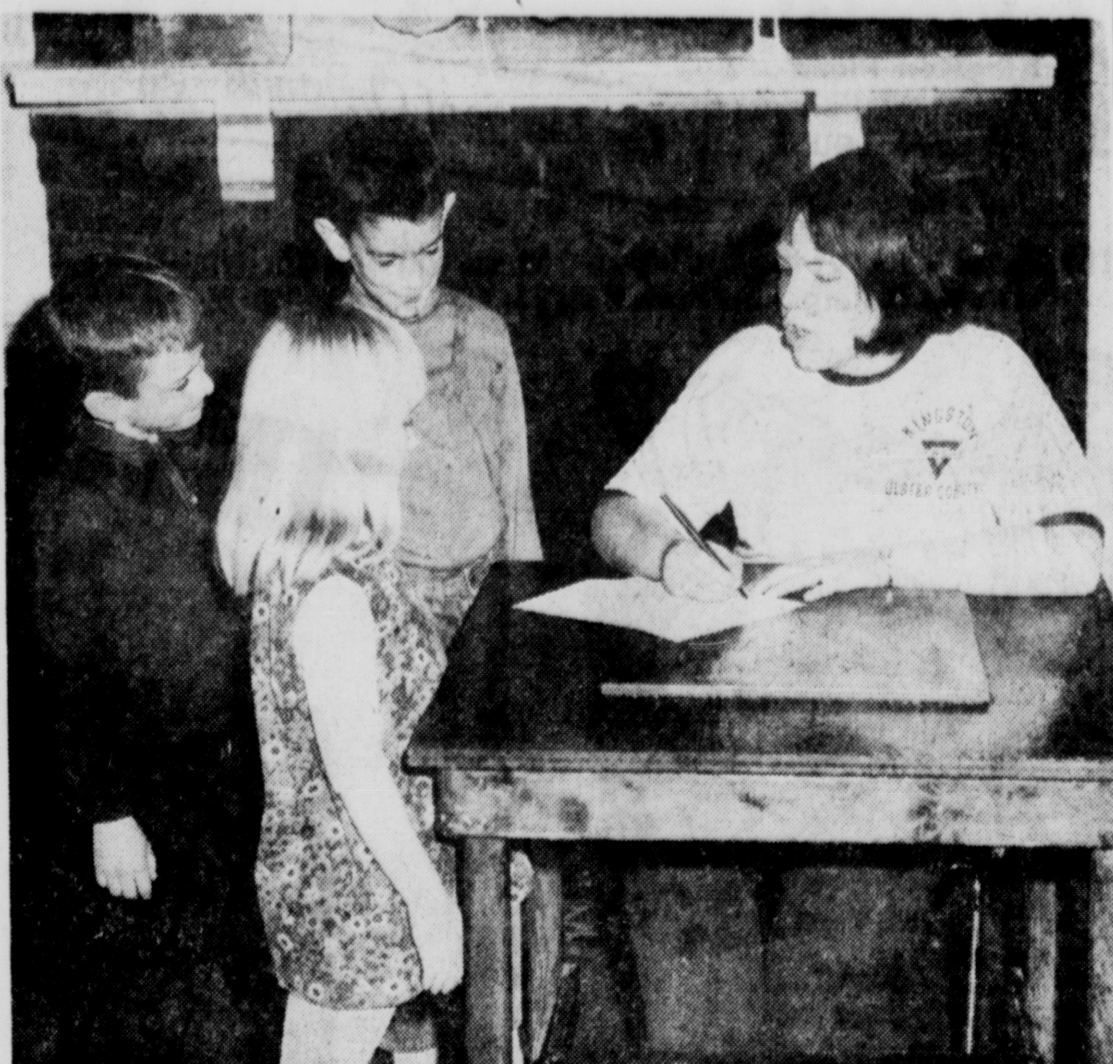

Final Flag

The camp day ends with everybody on the upper gym for flag lowering.

The Winter Day Camp is under the supervision of L. I. Van Heusen, youth and camp director.

Registrations are limited to 100 youth due to the small pool and are on a first come basis. Former campers are encouraged to enroll early to avoid disappointment.

The YMCA is a member of the Ulster County Community Chest. For applications or additional information on the Winter Day Camp telephone or stop in at the YMCA, 507 Broadway.

Swiss Pride

IBASEL, Switzerland (AP) — Civic pride produced a plurality here in a referendum authorizing the cantonal state government to purchase two Picasso paintings.

The two paintings have hung many years in the Basel Museum of Fine Arts.

The referendum, approved 22,118 to 27,190 last weekend, will make $1.04 million available to the government, which already has collected $500,000 toward the $1.9 million price from private donations.

The Picasso's, "The Two Brothers," and "Sitting Harlequin" are the property of Peter Staechelin, majority stockholder in the bankrupt Globe Airline.

He turned down a $2.5 million offer from an American buyer to sell the paintings to Basel.

Source of the poison potion drunk by Socrates has never been positively identified. Historians generally accept the roots of the European poison hemlock as the source.

Gulps Ring

CHICAGO (AP) — A Chicago woman, who swallowed another woman's $150 diamond ring rather than return it, was ordered to spend two days in a hospital so the ring could be recovered.

A charge of grand theft was dismissed after a judge ruled there was insufficient evidence. The defendant was placed on six months' probation on another charge, with the first two days to be spent in the hospital.

Economy Expanding, Higher Taxes Seen

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government economists say the nation's economy, rebounding strongly from recent strikes, is expanding at a pace that will convince Congress of the need for higher taxes.

Reports of surging personal income, production and home building and a sharp drop in unemployment came too late Monday to do the administration any good during the congressional session which ended last Friday.

But the economic data now in for November paints a bullish type of picture the government experts had hoped for when Congress considered President Johnson's proposed 10 per cent income tax surcharge earlier this year.

Fresh Ammunition

It should give the administration fresh ammunition when it resumes its bid for the surcharge before the House Ways and Means Committee about Jan. 22.

"They're awfully good-looking statistics," one analyst said of Monday's reports of the sharpest rise in personal income in more than two years and the fifth straight monthly advance in home building.

These reports from the Commerce Department followed announcements last week of the biggest jump in industrial output in three years, the sharpest drop in the unemployment rate in six years and a 1.5 per cent rise in retail sales which wiped out most of October's decline.

When Johnson submitted the surcharge proposal to Congress on Aug. 3, officials had hoped to back their arguments for passage with strong statistics of an expanding economy headed for inflation.

The signs were there but were inconsistent, especially when workers at the Ford Motor Co. struck in September. The copper strike and another by steel haulers added to the slowdown in statistical data.

But during November the major signs of economic activity moved ahead smartly in unison.

Experts Hedge

Government experts hedged their earlier predictions, however, on the assumption there would be no major automobile expansion indicates the economy is getting hot—uncomfortably so—one source said.

The Commerce Department report showed personal income up $5.8 billion to a record annual rate of $641.7 billion. Housing starts jumped 4.7 per cent to an annual rate of 1,556,000 units, the highest since December 1965.

School Vacation

Saugerties Central School District will close for the Christmas vacation at the end of the regular school day on Thursday, Dec. 21.

The vacation period beginning on Friday, Dec. 22, will extend through Tuesday, Jan. 2, with schools re-opening on Wednesday, Jan. 3, 1968, according to Dr. Dexter O. Arnold, superintendent.

Twenty and Ten Years Ago

Dec. 19, 1947—Mayor-Elect Oscar V. Newkirk named Bernard Kramer as city clerk, to take office Jan. 1.

The home of Mrs. Kate Oakley of Samsonville was completely destroyed by fire.

Dec. 19, 1957—Mayor Edwin F. Radel appointed Francis R. Koenig as his personal secretary.

The Community Chest was set to distribute $7,400 to its member agencies in January.

Car Window Broken

A Walden man complained to police Monday that his right front window was broken while parked in the Sears Roebuck lot area at Kingston Plaza Shopping Center. Police identified the man as Malcom Austin of 18 Maple Street. He told authorities the window was broken between 6:30 and 8:30

Basketball Game Raises Funds for Needy

On Tuesday, Dec. 12, the Saugerties High School Interact Club sponsored a basketball game to raise money to provide some needy family in the area with a nice Christmas. The club organized a team and asked the faculty to play them. Interact handled the publicity and sold tickets in advance.

Before a crowd of about 450, the teachers were edged by the Interact boys with a score of 83-49. Members of the faculty who played were: David Jones, Bob Canterbury, Thomas Zulk, Milton Sommers, Bruce Holmes, Bill Schirmer, Dave Goble and Larry Keane.

Members of the Interact Club who participated were: Carl Nickerson and Roger Praetorius, coaches; Bill Perks, referee; Brian Kane, scorekeeper; and Richard Praetorius, announcer.

The players for the Interact team were: Tom Rizzo, Dan Canger, Howard Post, Drew Craig, Mike Turek, Thomas Ziegler, Tony Konopka and Vince Buono. Coach Seither helped referee the game. Leaders Club and Sigma sold pizza and soda, and cheered for the teams.

Funds for Fun

Saugerties Lions Club, using funds it has accumulated through assessment of "fines" within its membership, has given $100 towards the Lions scholarship merit award for a deserving Saugerties High School student.

The club will also use the funds for a children's Christmas party.

Rotary

Hy Gardlin, field representative of the Social Security Division of the Department of Health and Education presented the program at the last meeting of Saugerties Rotary Club held at Anton's.

Roy Alquist is in charge of the annual Christmas party to be held at this week's meeting.

Health for All

Instead of a White Christmas, millions of people not so long ago had the White Plague. The White Plague was TB. To combat this devastating illness, the National Tuberculosis Association was formed in this country at the turn of the century. In the same year — 1904 — the first Christmas Seal was created by a Danish postal clerk. Why not, he thought, urge people to buy a special stamp while their holiday spirit was soaring? The Danish postmaster liked the idea, and the King of Denmark asked his people to use the stamps on their Christmas cards and packages. The generous Danes responded with tremendous enthusiasm. Soon there was enough money to construct a children's tuberculosis hospital. That was the beginning. The seals came across the sea to people in America. The American Red Cross sponsored the first campaign, and the Christmas Seal sported a single red cross. In 1910 the NTA joined forces with the Red Cross. A decade later, the TB Association had grown so that it could carry on the crusade alone. The Seal became a bright red double-barred cross. Soon it was a familiar part of the Christmas scene as well as an honored American tradition.

Today, a half-century later, the crusade goes on. The work of Christmas Seals through the years has helped to reduce TB drastically. But the crusade isn't over. About 30 million Americans are infected with TB germs, and nearly 100,000 persons have known, active TB. Christmas Seals still play a part in the struggle. But today they support more than the campaign against the White Plague. Contributions help sponsor the struggle against respiratory disease and the special noxious effects of air pollution and smoking. The National Tuberculosis Association slogan sums up the struggle: "It's a Matter of Life and Breath."

Sales Hearings

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Benjamin S. Rosenthal, D-N.Y., says there'll be congressional hearings early next year on sales to the public of items considered of such poor quality that the government wouldn't buy them.

He said even the government has conducted such sales—in one case reselling more than 600,000 pounds of coffee which was five years old. It had originally been rejected by the government because it was excessively bitter and had dust in it, Rosenthal said.

Other items sold to the public following government rejection include clothing, cleansers, flashlights, motor oils and insecticides, the New York congressman reported. What's more, he added, many of these items bore package labels indicating they met federal specifications.

Air Mail Advised

WASHINGTON (AP) — If you still haven't mailed Christmas cards to friends in distant states, better use air mail, says Postmaster General Lawrence F. O'Brien.

O'Brien said there wouldn't be time to deliver late cards bearing five-cent stamps. But he added the Post Office is up to date in deliveries, with only Philadelphia and Cincinnati post offices reporting backlogs.

He cited increased use of the Zip Code as the big factor in getting the avalanche of holiday mail through, with fewer man hours and less cost than last year.

3 Solons Perfect

Three members of Congress have racked up perfect attendance records during the first session of the 90th Congress. They are Sen. Margaret Chase Smith, R-Maine; and Reps. Charles E. Bennett, D-Fla., and William H. Natcher, D-Ky.

ART FESTIVAL—Preparing for the spring art festival to be sponsored by the Ulster County Girl Scout Council are Mr. J. E. Wolford and Kathleen Baxter of Cadette Troop 175. Miss Baxter selected the prize winning name, Artorama, which will designate the exciting new look in the world of art for the council. Her poster will be one of many on display to advertise the event. (Freeman photo by Haines.)

Reds Boast Lies Deluded World

By JOHN WEYLAND

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet secret police boasted today they had outwitted the United States with false information about military strength. The U.S. Embassy said the Russians were indulging in "fabrications."

The KGB — the Committee for State Security — said it captured a spy named Monov who was working for U.S. intelligence. It asserted it used his radio apparatus and secret dispatches to transmit misleading data about the location of troops, defense bases and the submarine fleet.

"Apart from attempting to glorify the Chekists — from the old KGB name of Chek — on their anniversary, the article seems to be part of a series of Soviet fabrications regarding alleged Western and particularly U.S. espionage," the embassy said in a statement.

Snooper Spies
KGB also said in an interview in Pravda on the 50th anniversary of the organization that two U.S. military attaches had been caught snooping at a military installation.

It charged that Lt. Cmdr. Robert B. Bathurst, U.S. assistant naval attaché and Lt. Col. Robert E. Litchow, assistant Army attaché, "went up directly to a military object and impudently peered through the fence." It said they were apprehended on the spot and taken away.

The embassy reported that the incident occurred in June of last year at Orsha, a town about 300 miles west of Moscow. It said "they were briefly detained, but the accusations against them were without foundation."

End Duty Tour
Both attaches left the Soviet Union last spring at the end of normal tours of duty.

In another development, the government newspaper Izvestia presented Harold A. K. Philby, British master spy, as a hero in the cause of communism.

Philby fled to the Soviet Union in 1963 after holding high positions in the British Intelligence Service and gaining access in Washington to many of the secrets of the Central Intelligence Agency.

In the Pravda article, the KGB claimed it was more than a match for Western intelligence.

Legion Post Burns Mortgage

A mortgage burning ceremony highlighted the annual Christmas party of the American Legion Post 1026, Woodstock, Sunday. Tribute was also paid to Past Commander Lloyd Gibson. Organized in early 1930, the Post gained its charter April 3, 1931. Its first quarters were in the Twadell house, which now houses the Woodstock Bakery. Prior to organization of the Woodstock Post, residents of the area belonged to the Saugerties Post.

The Post moved to its present quarters on Hillcrest Road, Nov. 23, 1943, formerly owned by Willard Allen. The mortgage dates to Dec. 10, 1954.

Dr. Mortimer Downer Jr., of Kingston, was the Post's first commander. Its 16 charter members were installed by former Kingston mayor, Conrad J. Heiselman, when he was County Legion commander.

Sunday's program included a welcome and post reports by Commander Eric Wiltz, the introduction of charter members, a legion auxiliary presentation of Post and County Commanders of Post and County Commanders and the invocation and benediction led by Post Chaplain the Rev. Paul Otteson.

Public Health Group Given Citation

A citation for service on the part of the Woodstock Public Health Committee has been given by the American Cancer Society, it was reported at the annual meeting recently, by the president, Mrs. Arthur Jones.

She announced that 1,500 large sized bed pads and about 500 bed jackets had been made during the past year by 12 women volunteers who worked each Monday from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. at headquarters in the Hous building.

Mrs. Edmund Tomaselli, chairman of the community blood bank in Woodstock township, reported that over 50 pints of blood have been given to residents of the township since last May. The service is said to have helped save many lives and is free of charge.

New Library Opens Dec. 9

Ellin Roberts, Librarian

"Woodstock is a rather unusual community, in the intensity of its intellectual interest. There is a more serious-minded reading public here, rather than one which reads purely for entertainment," says Mrs. Richard Roberts, new Woodstock librarian. "At the same time, it is certainly not a purely academic community," she adds, "the need here is for a good substantial library covering many fields, rather than one which specializes in a particular field."

The "new" library's official opening date has been tentatively set for Tuesday, Jan. 9.

Interviewed one afternoon recently while the Jaycees were returning the library's 20,000 volumes to their shelves, Ellin stated, "Dick and I are terribly pleased to be living in Woodstock."

Richard and Ellin Roberts are no strangers to Woodstock. They have owned a home here for 16 years, using it for week-ends and summer vacations. They now live in the old Klemantis homestead on Purdy Hollow Road in Zena. Ellin noted, "We've always been anxious to settle here full time and to live here. We have a number of good friends here, and hope to make lots more as we move around a little."

Raised in Pittsburgh, she is a 1942 Phi Beta Kappa Vassar graduate, having majored in English literature. Since then, she has been engaged in book publishing and writing. For the last eight years she has been a senior editor with Doubleday and Company in New York City. Prior to that, she was with the Peoples Book Club and Alfred A. Knopf, Inc., in New York, doing editorial and sales promotion work. She also studied library science at Pratt Institute in Brooklyn.

Her fiction works have been published in "Good Housekeeping," "Cosmopolitan," and "Today's Woman." Articles of hers have appeared in the "Saturday Review" and "Trade Magazine Publishers' Weekly." She has also edited several anthologies. Ellin and Richard both plan to continue their writing careers, but both have given up their full-time New York City jobs. Richard was senior editor with Dell Publishing and Delacorte Press.

Chief Duncan Wilson of Bears-ville was reelected chief of Woodstock Fire Department Thursday night at the annual election of department line officers held at Wittenberg Firehouse. Four companies participated.

William Harder was named first assistant, moving up from his post as second assistant.

Suggests Promotion

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. commissioner of education should be promoted to the President's Cabinet and the machinery by which funds for education are appropriated should be speeded up, a House subcommittee recommends.

Rep. Edith Green, D-Ore., said in a statement that her subcommittee also urges units inside the U.S. Office of Education be pulled together to eliminate overlap.

She said Cabinet status for the head of the agency—currently Harold Howe II, 47—would permit the President and Congress to oversee more effectively the federal government's responsibilities to education.

Late federal funding of educational projects, she said, causes severe problems for local school systems. "Our study," she said, "suggests a possible answer would be appropriations one year in advance of the fiscal year in which the school year begins."

The study's principal finding, said Mrs. Green, is that there is "an overwhelming determination and desire on the part of responsible educational administrators of the nation that the federal government should be the junior partner in education—in fact as well as in platitudes and political platforms."

Priest Marries

LA JOLLA, Calif. (AP) — The Rev. James Kavanaugh, a Roman Catholic priest who wrote "A Modern Priest Looks at His Outdated Church," was married last weekend.

He said, "I am acting in accord with my conscience before God."

Father Kavanaugh has asked to be released from the priesthood.

He and his bride, Patricia Jean Walden, a 35-year-old San Diego nurse, exchanged vows before an Episcopal priest. About 40 friends and relatives were at the ceremony in the home of Dr. Philip Kavanaugh, his brother.

Enough Coinage

The Treasury Department says it has enough new coinage on hand to avoid dipping into the stock of old, 90-per-cent silver coins it has withdrawn from circulation. It had feared heavy Christmas-season demand might force the release of some of these coins. Most newly minted coins are made of copper and nickel.

Permission is Granted 'Dr. Sam' for Practice

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard has received permission from the State Medical Board to resume the practice of osteopathic medicine and surgery in Ohio, an attorney for Sheppard said Monday.

Sheppard's certificate was suspended indefinitely after his 1954 conviction in the slaying of his wife in suburban Cleveland. He was released from prison in 1964 when a federal judge ruled that he didn't get a fair trial, and he was acquitted in a second trial.

Clark said a letter from the medical board to Sheppard said, "There is no basis upon which to continue the indefinite suspension."

The attorney, Benjamin Clark of Columbus, said he was notified that the board had reinstated Sheppard's certificate at a Dec. 14 meeting. Sheppard requested reinstatement Nov. 28, Clark said.

However, Sheppard has indicated he doesn't plan to resume practice in Ohio. He is now living in Europe, and recently applied to join the Peace Corps. His last known address is in Duisburg, West Germany, Clark said.

Action Continues

A negligence action continued Monday in Supreme Court before Supreme Court Justice Roscoe V. Elsworth in the case of Charlotte Adicks versus Elizabeth Tedrow and another.

The matter in question is an automobile collision on Albany Avenue near Lincoln Park Inn in the Town of Ulster. Michael Nardone, attorney for the plaintiff rested his case Monday morning. George F. Roesch is appearing for the defendants.

Nice Kind of Riot

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — The alarm went out to Yale University campus police just after midnight—trouble on the fourth floor of Wright Hall.

Officer Richard Dorfman was the first to react, the Yale Daily News recounted Friday. He ran to Wright Hall.

Sizing up the situation, he called for more help.

"Lt. Lewis Cappiello and force members Thomas Charron and Patrick Wynn hurried to the scene of what they believed to be a budding freshman riot," said the news.

But instead of being pelted with bottles when they charged into the dormitory, they drew a barrage of confetti.

With that came jovial backslapping and singing and signs proclaiming a "surprise Christmas party for the campus fuzz."

Relaxing, Charron and Wynn joined Cappiello, already well into the Christmas cake and nonalcoholic eggnog.

Nice Kind of Riot
NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — The alarm went out to Yale University campus police just after midnight — trouble on the fourth floor of Wright Hall.
Officer Richard Dorfman was the first to react, the Yale Daily News recounted Friday. He ran to Wright Hall.
Sizing up the situation, he called for more help.
"Lt. Lewis Cappelletto and force members Thomas Charon and Patrick Wynn hurried to the scene of what they believed to be a budding freshman riot," said the news.
But instead of being pelted with bottles when they charged into the dormitory, they drew a barrage of confetti.
With that came jovial backslapping and singing and signs proclaiming a "surprise Christmas party for the campus fuzz."
Relaxing Charon and Wynn joined Cappelletto, already well into the Christmas cake and nonalcoholic eggnog.

On Three Issues

Congress in Bottleneck

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Judiciary Committee proved an impassable bottleneck for anticrime, antiriot and gun control legislation in the first session of the 90th Congress.

And there's evidence the same conflicts that caused the stalemate on all three measures may be equally difficult to breach in the next session beginning Jan. 15.

Closely Divided
The Judiciary Committee, with Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., as chairman and Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen the top-ranking minority member, is closely divided on all three issues.

Southern Democrats and conservative Republicans on the panel have tended to back the antiriot bill, which would make it a federal crime to incite a riot, while opposing the measure to prohibit interstate firearms sales.

Liberal and moderate committee members from both parties generally oppose the antiriot bill but strongly endorse the gun sales measure.

The liberals-conservatives bipartisan split also affects the anticrime bill.

Liberals have backed President Johnson's original proposal for providing federal grants to local law enforcement agencies for training and new equipment. Conservatives have backed a Judiciary subcommittee's amendments to remove Supreme Court-imposed restrictions on the admissibility of confessions in criminal cases.

The subcommittee also broadened the bill to authorize wiretapping by law enforcement officers acting under court orders.

Johnson has called for a ban on all wiretapping and electronic eavesdropping except in cases involving the national interest.

Both sides in the committee's wrangle over the anticrime bill were maneuvering cautiously when Congress went home last weekend.

From time to time reports cropped up that the administration might be willing to accept a wiretap provision if necessary to get its anticrime bill out of the committee, but sources said they knew of no foundation for them.

Sen. Roman L. Hruska, R-Neb., a key supporter of limited authority for police wiretapping, also said he knew of nothing to indicate any weakening in the administration's opposition.

No Compromise Reached
There was occasional talk during the last session that all three bills might be combined into some sort of package deal. But no compromise was reached and the outlook is not promising for the next session.

The House passed the antiriot bill last summer and the Senate committee completed hearings on it before Labor Day. But the efforts of Eastland and other backers to dislodge the bill proved unavailing in the face of the opposition of Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., and other liberals.

Wrangling over the gun control bill has gone on within the committee for years. Kennedy, with the backing of the administration, was among leaders in the fight for this but got nowhere against the conservatives.

like the space exhibit, Romney kept his hands in his coat pockets. A frowning guard nudged him to remove them, since church-like respect is shown in the tomb. He complied.

African Culture Theme Of Rondout Center Guest

Dr. Robert Decker, professor of African studies at the State University College, New Paltz, was guest speaker at the open house held Saturday at the Rondout Service Center.

The program at the center was one of several throughout the county sponsored by the Ulster County Community Action Committee Inc. in conjunction with Human Rights Week, Dec. 10 through 17.

A good attendance was reported for the Service Center fete which was held at the headquarters, 58 Broadway.

Dr. Decker detailed the culture, traditions and customs of the many African people. He mentioned Jomo Kenyatta and Leopold Senegal as two of Africa's well known intellectuals and pointed out there are many more.

Plan More

It is planned to have Dr. Decker return for further lectures. Other authorities on African culture and the role of the Negro in America will be guests in the near future.

Malinda J. Davis, executive director of the center, said, "It is hoped that through these seminars, we can convince both the young American black and the young American white that the black boy or girl who sits next to them in the classrooms or works beside them in industrial plants and factories has nothing in their heritage that they should be ashamed of. On the contrary, they have many accomplishments that they can point to with pride."

"The Negro has contributed to every field in American life. They have served their country as soldiers, statesmen, athletes, teachers, doctors, intellectuals. It is felt that if these facts are presented, in an interesting manner, to all the people, both black and white, both groups can benefit. The black people will take greater pride in their heritage and the white people will have a greater respect for them as individuals. "While it is true that our ancestors were brought to this country in bondage, we are by no means the only people to one who taught a slave to read ever be slaves. However Negro slavery was especially unique and cruel because it was based on the color of a man's skin and there were laws that carried severe penalties for any that he creates himself."

Romney Visits Kremlin, Has Talks With Kosygin

By JOHN WEYLAND
MOSCOW (AP) — Gov. George Romney of Michigan went to the Kremlin today and met with Premier Alexei N. Kosygin.

Romney was accompanied by the U.S. Embassy first secretary, Alexander Akalovsky, who translated at one of the Glassboro, N.J., meetings between Kosygin and President Johnson.

The meeting with Kosygin was the only one with a Soviet official granted the Republican presidential candidate during his two-day stay in Moscow.

Since his arrival Monday, Romney has shied away from comment on U.S.-Soviet issues. His aides indicated that the governor would say little or nothing afterward about his talk with the Soviet premier.

Romney is due to fly out of Moscow Wednesday for Tel Aviv, Israel, to continue his world tour.

The governor spent the morning taking a ride on the Moscow subway, looking at an exhibit on Soviet space achievements and being shown Lenin's Tomb in Red Square.

Then he lunched with U.S. Ambassador Llewellyn E. Thompson and the ambassadors of France, Britain, West Germany, Italy and Canada.

The governor, who rose to prominence as an automotive executive, passed up a Soviet offer to visit an automobile plant. "They are too out of date," he told a reporter. "They're in the process of modernizing."

The governor wore only a light topcoat and went hatless on his tour of the city, where the temperature was 10 degrees.

At Lenin's tomb, unheated

U.S. Troops Patrol Destroyed Hill 875

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. troops have moved off the top of Hill 875, scene of an epic five-day battle last month, but are still patrolling actively in the general area in the central highlands, American officers said today.

A spokesman for the U.S. 4th Infantry Division said American infantrymen destroyed all of the North Vietnamese bunkers and other fortifications on top of the hill near Dak To, then moved off.

"The area is still under active patrol," said one U.S. senior officer in Saigon, "but we wouldn't keep anybody there on top of Hill 875. We don't go into a place like that and stay. No hill is that critical to hold forever. There are plenty of hills in that area."

The sprawling central highlands is dotted with hills in the Dak To area.

The 21-day battle of Dak To, the costliest of the Vietnam war for both sides, included the bloody fighting for Hill 875. American paratroopers of the 173rd Airborne Brigade finally took the hill on Thanksgiving Day after nearly 150 Americans were killed and almost 300 wounded.

The main elements of the three North Vietnamese regiments that fought the Americans at Dak To are believed to have pulled back across the Cambodian and Laotian borders to regroup after suffering severe losses. Only minor skirmishes with small groups of Communist soldiers have been reported in recent days.

U.S. Headquarters reported that 1,836 North Vietnamese troops were killed by American and South Vietnamese forces in the fighting around Dak To. Total U.S. losses for the same period were 280 killed and 1,037 wounded, the U.S. Command said.

Woman, 81, Killed by Car; Driver Aged 82

LITTLE VALLEY, N.Y. (AP) — An 81-year-old woman was struck and killed Monday night in this southwestern New York community by an automobile driven by a woman aged 82, police said.

Investigators said Mrs. Lettie A. Carpenter of Little Valley apparently stepped into the path of the car on a street near her home.

Woman Objects To Decorations In Public School

EAST PATERSON, N.J. (AP) — A woman objected at a school board meeting here Monday night to Christmas decorations on a public high school as a violation of the principle of separation of church and state.

Mrs. Shirley Friedman read the 10-member board a statement in which she said, "I have no desire to take Christ out of Christmas. I would just like to remove His image from the front door of a public school."

"I believe this to be consistent not only with the Constitution of the United States, which subscribes to the separation of the church and the state, but also to the codes established in our own school," she said. "How can you be accepted as a public school when you look like a parochial school or cathedral?"

Doors and windows of the Memorial Junior-Senior High School on River Drive here have been decorated with paintings showing Jesus Christ and other Biblical figures in scenes related to the Christmas season. The scenes are painted on plastic and inserted in the windows, giving the appearance of stained glass.

The board, which was meeting in the school, walked outside to look at the decorations, but made no comment when it returned. None of the three other members of the audience made a comment.

Mrs. Friedman said her children had gone through the system and were out now. She suggested the display be shown in the art department of the school instead of around the front entrance.

She did not indicate whether she would take further action.

Before Next Fall's Election

The Shape of the 28th to Change

The shape of Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick's 28th Congressional District apparently will have to be changed before next fall's election.

Ordered by Court
The move was ordered yesterday by the U. S. Supreme Court which affirmed a lower court decision for redistricting. It calls for the State Legislature to pass on a new reapportionment plan for a number of districts, including the 28th, by March 1, 1968.

The special court decided that the state's 41 congressional districts were too disproportionate in population to conform to the "one man-one vote" principle.

Rep. Resnick's district, which consists of Ulster, Dutchess, Columbia, Greene and Schoharie Counties, has been designated as underpopulated. The nearby 25th district is overpopulated. Therefore there is speculation that Putnam County, in the 25th, will be added to the 28th.

"We'll do it," was Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's terse reaction.

Cary's Disc
NEW YORK (AP) — Cary Grant, charming leading man and movie superstar, has cut a Christmas record for children. "I never made a record before," said the actor who became a father for the first time at the age of 62 some 21 months ago.

The record, called "Christmas Lullaby," is done in the chanting, sing-song fashion that made the actor's voice as imitated as any in show business. He also sings a few notes in the record. The gray-haired actor says singing is not a new experience for him. "I started out in vaudeville," he pointed out in an interview Monday night.

The flip side of the record is a collaboration between Grant and singer Peggy Lee called "Here's to You."

BREAKTHROUGH — Comedian Bob Hope and actress Raquel Welch break through a gaily decorated package labeled "To the G.I.'s" moments before boarding a MATS airplane as Hope and his troupe of 60 depart on his 17th annual Christmas tour of overseas military bases. This year Hope and his entourage will visit troops serving in the Vietnam war zone as well as Thailand and Guam. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Alabama Hit By Tornadoes

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Deadly tornadoes are continuing to erupt over Alabama, and the Weather Bureau said one funnel sliced across a section of the Municipal Airport here shortly after 5 a.m. today.

Three aircraft hangars and two aircraft were damaged, the Weather Bureau said. There were no injuries.

Additional damage was reported in the western section of the city, the Weather Bureau added. It said at least one trailer home was overturned by the violent winds and a number of trees was uprooted.

The Weather Bureau said the tornado which hit the airport was one of two reported in the area. The second apparently did not touch ground, it said.

Today's storms came less than 24 hours after Alabama Gov. Lurleen Wallace ordered state Civil Defense authorities to obtain information necessary to seek federal disaster aid for other tornado and rain damaged areas of the state.

Mrs. Wallace issued the order after a killer tornado, spawned by unseasonably warm weather, struck the Huntsville, Ala., area shortly before dawn Monday, killing two persons and injuring about 30 others.

Ignore Brezhnev
MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet press and radio ignored the 61st birthday today of the nation's most powerful leader, Communist party General Secretary Leonid I. Brezhnev.

The failure to mention the occasion publicly was in keeping with Soviet tradition. Leaders normally are honored only on 50th, 60th and 70th birthdays.

Army Private Awaits Action For Smuggling

ONTARIO, N.Y. (AP) — A soldier, who the government claims, smuggled more than a pound of marijuana through the mail from Vietnam to this country, is awaiting court action on the charge.

Army Pfc. Lonny L. Hicks, 19, was arrested Monday at his home in this community 15 miles east of Rochester, soon after the drugs were delivered there, Finbarr J. Murphy, chief U.S. Customs agent in Buffalo, said.

Hicks, now on leave, was freed on $500 bond after arraignment before a U.S. commissioner in Rochester.

The marijuana, worth about $1,000 on the illicit market and reportedly of high quality, was in 21 packets concealed in a pillow mailed from Vietnam, Murphy said.

The drugs were detected Dec. 11 during a routine inspection of mail by Customs officers in San Francisco, he added, and the package was allowed to proceed to Hicks' home arriving there Monday.

The soldier is scheduled to return to duty next month. His home is at 415 Lincoln Road.

he has restored more than two million feet of film taken between 1894 and 1912. The academy gave him an Oscar in 1957 for a process he devised.

After commanding a U.S. Navy destroyer in World War II, Niver became a free-lance film cameraman-producer.

In 1952 the academy asked him to identify movies on paper it had received from the Library of Congress. Until 1912 the only way a producer could copyright his film was to print it on rolls of paper and file it with the library.

For historians this was lucky because most of the early, explosive nitrate films of Thomas A. Edison and other pioneers have long since disintegrated. Nitrate film was replaced in 1950 by acetate safety film, believed to last indefinitely.

Niver's Oscar was for a process of soaking and redrying the paper prints so they could be unrolled without cracking the emulsion. He built a lathe-sized machine that claws the paper along one frame at a time while a camera above simultaneously rephotographs each scene on 16mm film.

With the same process he rephotographs old nitrate films, of which he says the academy has "maybe 1,500—old John Bun-comedies and other things—that need restoring."

"We now have 3,000 films that didn't exist, except on paper, 10 years ago," said Niver. "The Museum of Modern Art in New York is happy to have 50 of D. W. Griffith's films. We have 300—every one he ever made."

Is Writing Book
Niver, 55, is still at the paper-print refilming, currently in still photos for a fourth book he is writing on film history.

Historical movie views Niver has restored include the battleship Maine, Pope Leo XIII, the St. Louis World's Fair opening, a submarine launching in 1904, hurricane-devastated Galveston in 1900 and fire-ravaged Baltimore in 1904.

Besides the academy, Niver works for universities, colleges, private film buffs, the Army and Navy and television.

U.S. Troops Patrol Destroyed Hill 875

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. troops have moved off the top of Hill 875, scene of an epic five-day battle last month, but are still patrolling actively in the general area in the central highlands, American officers said today.

A spokesman for the U.S. 4th Infantry Division said American infantrymen destroyed all of the North Vietnamese bunkers and other fortifications on top of the hill near Dak To, then moved off.

"The area is still under active patrol," said one U.S. senior officer in Saigon, "but we wouldn't keep anybody there on top of Hill 875. We don't go into a place like that and stay. No hill is that critical to hold forever. There are plenty of hills in that area."

The sprawling central highlands are dotted with hills in the Dak To area.

The 21-day battle of Dak To, the costliest of the Vietnam war for both sides, included the bloody fighting for Hill 875. American paratroopers of the 173rd Airborne Brigade finally took the hill on Thanksgiving Day after nearly 150 Americans were killed and almost 300 wounded.

The main elements of the three North Vietnamese regiments that fought the Americans at Dak To are believed to have pulled back across the Cambodian and Laotian borders to regroup after suffering severe losses. Only minor skirmishes with small groups of Communist soldiers have been reported in recent days.

U.S. Headquarters reported that 1,836 North Vietnamese troops were killed by American and South Vietnamese forces in the fighting around Dak To. Total U.S. losses for the same period were 280 killed and 1,037 wounded, the U.S. Command said.

Woman, 81, Killed by Car; Driver Aged 82

LITTLE VALLEY, N.Y. (AP) — An 81-year-old woman was struck and killed Monday night in this Southwestern New York community by an automobile driven by a woman aged 82, police said.

Investigators said Mrs. Lettie A. Carpenter of Little Valley apparently stepped into the path of the car on a street near her home.

She lived at 419 Erie St.

BREAKTHROUGH — Comedian Bob Hope and actress Raquel Welch break through a gaily decorated package labeled "To the G.I.'s" moments before boarding a MATS airplane as Hope and his troupe of 60 depart on his 17th annual Christmas tour of overseas military bases. This year Hope and his entourage will visit troops serving in the Vietnam war zone as well as Thailand and Guam. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Woman Objects To Decorations In Public School

EAST PATERSON, N.J. (AP) — A woman objected at a school board meeting here Monday night to Christmas decorations on a public high school as a violation of the principle of separation of church and state.

Mrs. Shirley Friedman read the 10-member board a statement in which she said, "I have no desire to take Christ out of Christmas. I would just like to remove His image from the front door of a public school."

"I believe this to be consistent not only with the Constitution of the United States, which subscribes to the separation of the church and the state, but also to the codes established in our own school," she said. "How can you be accepted as a public school when you look like a parochial school or cathedral?"

Doors and windows of the Memorial Junior - Senior High School on River Drive here have been decorated with paintings showing Jesus Christ and other Biblical figures in scenes related to the Christmas season. The scenes are painted on plastic and inserted in the windows, giving the appearance of stained glass.

The board, which was meeting in the school, walked outside to look at the decorations, but made no comment when it returned. None of the three other members of the audience made a comment.

Mrs. Friedman said her children had gone through the system and were out now. She suggested the display be shown in the art department of the school instead of around the front entrance.

She did not indicate whether she would take further action.

Before Next Fall's Election

The Shape of the 28th to Change

The shape of Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick's 28th Congressional District apparently will have to be changed before next fall's election.

Ordered by Court
The move was ordered yesterday by the U. S. Supreme Court which affirmed a lower court decision for redistricting. It calls for the State Legislature to pass on a new reapportionment plan for a number of districts, including the 28th, by March 1, 1968.

The special court decided that the state's 41 congressional districts were too disproportionate in population to conform to the "one-man-one-vote" principle. Rep. Resnick's district, which consists of Ulster, Dutchess, Columbia, Greene and Schoharie Counties, has been designated as underpopulated. The nearby 25th district is overpopulated. Therefore there is speculation that Putnam County, in the 25th, will be added to the 28th.

"We'll do it," was Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's terse reaction.

Cary's Disc
NEW YORK (AP) — Cary Grant, charming leading man and movie superstar, has cut a Christmas record for children. "I never made a record before," said the actor who became a father for the first time at the age of 62 some 21 months ago.

The record, called "Christmas Lullaby," is done in the chanting, sing-song fashion that made the actor's voice as imitated as any in show business. He also sings a few notes in the record.

The gray-haired actor says singing is not a new experience for him. "I started out in vaudeville," he pointed out in an interview Monday night.

The flip side of the record is a collaboration between Grant and singer Peggy Lee called "Here's to You."

George D. Zuckerman, who unsuccessfully argued the state's appeal, said he believed the new apportionment must be based on the 1960 census, despite big shifts in population since then.

The result, he predicted, will be that the 1968 apportionment by the Legislature will have to be redone after the 1970 census.

New York will then have had three sets of congressional districts within six years, he said.

409,000 Ideal Count.
The ideal district under the 1960 census would have had a population of 409,000. The maximum variation from the average is now 15.1 per cent.

The state's appeal said that variation meets standards frequently advanced by federal courts as a "reasonable test."

Zuckerman said the U. S. Census Bureau reported it could not complete a new census in time for the 1968 elections. He also said he did not believe the federal courts would approve a new apportionment based on updated figures in some counties and 1960 figures in others.

The soldier is scheduled to return to duty next month. His home is at 415 Lincoln Road.

The drugs were detected Dec. 11 during a routine inspection of mail by Customs officers in San Francisco, he added, and the package was allowed to proceed to Hicks' home arriving there Monday.

Alabama Hit By Tornadoes

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Deadly tornadoes are continuing to erupt over Alabama, and the Weather Bureau said one funnel sliced across a section of the Municipal Airport here shortly after 5 a.m. today.

Three aircraft hangars and two aircraft were damaged, the Weather Bureau said. There were no injuries.

Additional damage was reported in the western section of the city, the Weather Bureau added. It said at least one trailer home was overturned by the violent winds and a number of trees was uprooted.

The Weather Bureau said the tornado which hit the airport was one of two reported in the area. The second apparently did not touch ground, it said.

Today's storms came less than 24 hours after Alabama Gov. Lurleen Wallace ordered state Civil Defense authorities to obtain information necessary to seek federal disaster aid for other tornado and rain damaged areas of the state.

Mrs. Wallace issued the order after a killer tornado, spawned by unseasonably warm weather, struck the Huntsville, Ala., area shortly before dawn Monday, killing two persons and injuring about 30 others.

Ignore Brezhnev

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet press and radio ignored the 61st birthday today of the nation's most powerful leader, Communist party General Secretary Leonid I. Brezhnev.

The failure to mention the occasion publicly was in keeping with Soviet tradition. Leaders normally are honored only on 50th, 60th and 70th birthdays.

Visitor From Vienna Honored

NEW YORK, N. Y., Dec. 15—Miss Martha Foitl, Foitl Films, Vienna, Austria, was honored today at a luncheon in the Rainbow Room, 30 Rockefeller Plaza. Miss Foitl is completing a goodwill tour of 15 United States cities, inviting the mayor and people of each, as well as everyone in the United States, to "Come to Europe—Visit Austria—Fall in Love with Vienna."

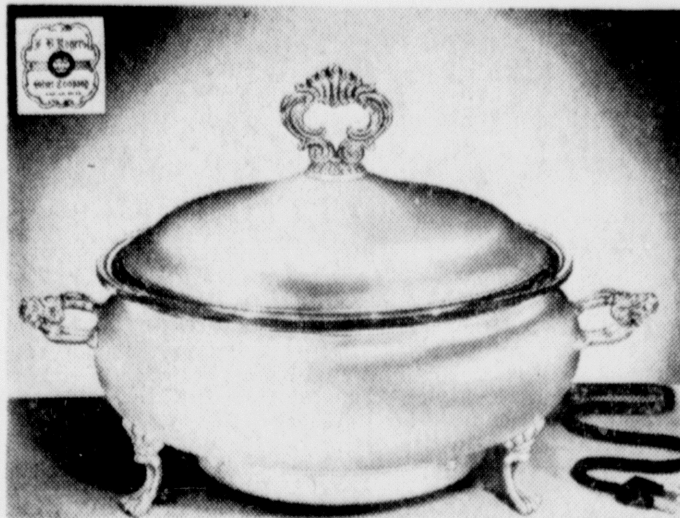

She is president of the Vienna Zonta club, and has greeted Zonta presidents in the cities she visited.

The luncheon, hosted by Mrs. Maria J. Dunham, secretary and treasurer, Dunham Tunnel and Excavation Corporation, Kingston, was the counterpart of a reception two years ago at the Vienna City Hall. A group of twenty-five women, including Mrs. Dunham, traveling under the auspices of the New York State Commerce Department Women's Program, were introduced by Miss Foitl to the Lord Mayor of Vienna.

Also attending the luncheon were Dr. Karen Gillespie, professor of Business Education, School of Education and Institute of Retail Management, New York University; Miss Elizabeth Maher, president, Elizabeth Maher Associates; Miss Dorothy Marsh, president, Marsh Tours, Inc.; Miss Ruth F. Irish, assistant vice president, Union Dime Savings Bank; Mrs. Madeline A. Hynard, properties committee, YWCA; Mrs. Mary Tobin, assistant deputy commissioner, New York State Commerce Department Women's Program; and Mrs. Gertrude Cavanaugh Vion, commissioner, New York State Workmen's Compensation Board, all of New York City; and Miss Consuelo Higuera, manager, Public Relations, Banco de Ponce, Bronx, all Kingston.

Hints from Heloise

Dear Heloise:

Crooked pictures and mirrors bother everyone.

I haven't discovered a method to prevent them from becoming cockeyed, but I have found a way to straighten them quickly and perfectly.

When hanging a picture, I use a small bubble level to get it absolutely straight. Then with a pencil, I make a light "L" around the bottom left edge of the frame.

Anyone can then straighten the frame by merely lining up that corner with the mark. The pencil line is practically invisible and can be easily wiped off or erased when no longer needed.

Arthur Vogel

Another answer is to put TWO nails up instead of one. Then it never sways.

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

My grandmother's family is quite large, and although they are scattered from one end of the United States to the other, they keep in touch by a round robin letter.

The eldest brother writes a one-page letter and sends it on to the next in line. She then writes a one-page letter and puts it in with the first letter and sends it on to the next line—and around it goes. When it gets back to the eldest brother, he takes his old letter out and puts a new one in and starts it back around. They have a ruling that each person can only keep it three days. (This keeps them in close contact with each other between family reunions.)

For people who don't have time to write a bunch of separate letters, a round robin is the perfect solution.

Wilba Duncan

Dear Heloise:

This is for sweaters with set-in (not raglan) sleeves.

When the elbows begin to wear, rip out the sleeves and switch them to opposite arm holes. This brings the thin elbows to the inner arm. Be sure to baste the sleeve in place, using tissue paper over the seam, and stretch as you sew it on the machine.

After cleaning, the elbow bulge disappears and the sweater looks practically new again.

Hand-knitted sweaters just need to have the "whipping" removed, sleeves switched and rewhipped. It's real easy.

Over 100 hours were spent by members doing cancer and community service work. The following members went to Albany Veterans Hospital to work in the Christmas Gift Shop: Mrs. Ira Maurer, Mrs. Henry Schmidt Sr., Mrs. William Price, Mrs. George C. Heppner, and Mrs. John Pugliese. There were 19 patients from the Kingston area who were presented with gifts from the 150

Holiday Posters Displayed at UCCC

Posters on the winter and holiday season currently are on display in Gallery Hall in the John Burroughs Science Building at Ulster County Community College. The show will run from Friday, Dec. 15 through Sunday, Dec. 31, and is open to the general public.

Barry D. Lawrence Recently Awarded Master's Degree

Barry D. Lawrence, Accord, received a master of science degree from Ohio State University, Columbus, Ohio, on Friday, Dec. 15, in St. John Arena on campus.

Earl F. Morris, Columbus attorney and president of the American Bar Association, delivered the commencement address on "American Society and the Rebirth of Civil Obedience."

A graduating class of 1,207 students received diplomas at the autumn commencement ceremonies.

The posters were designed and executed by art students in the Visual Arts Program of the College.

"Poster design as a direct visual proclamation has always existed in intimate relation to everyday activity," according to Miss Ruth Muroff, associate professor in the Visual Arts Program of Ulster County Community College.

Over 20 holiday festive posters are on view in the UCCC exhibition.

At the October 23 County meeting which was held at the Rosendale Post, members were requested to donate coupons to Mrs. Jane Scully, chairman. These coupons were used to support and improve the American Legion Mountain Camp at Tupper Lake where auxiliary members may go at a nominal fee for convalescent care.

Five Gold Star mothers and 12 members attended the Veterans' Service at City Hall on Veterans' Day.

Over 100 hours were spent by members doing cancer and community service work. The following members went to Albany Veterans Hospital to work in the Christmas Gift Shop: Mrs. Ira Maurer, Mrs. Henry Schmidt Sr., Mrs. William Price, Mrs. George C. Heppner, and Mrs. John Pugliese. There were 19 patients from the Kingston area who were presented with gifts from the 150

Holiday Posters Displayed at UCCC

Posters on the winter and holiday season currently are on display in Gallery Hall in the John Burroughs Science Building at Ulster County Community College. The show will run from Friday, Dec. 15 through Sunday, Dec. 31, and is open to the general public.

Barry D. Lawrence Recently Awarded Master's Degree

Barry D. Lawrence, Accord, received a master of science degree from Ohio State University, Columbus, Ohio, on Friday, Dec. 15, in St. John Arena on campus.

Earl F. Morris, Columbus attorney and president of the American Bar Association, delivered the commencement address on "American Society and the Rebirth of Civil Obedience." A graduating class of 1,207 students received diplomas at the autumn commencement ceremonies.

The posters were designed and executed by art students in the Visual Arts Program of the College.

"Poster design as a direct visual proclamation has always existed in intimate relation to everyday activity," according to Miss Ruth Muroff, associate professor in the Visual Arts Program of Ulster County Community College.

The poster uses simple subtle symbology to convey a message combined with brige, bold colors and lettering big enough to be read easily.

Over 20 holiday festive posters are on view in the UCCC exhibition.

Gators Walk to Win Against Vanderbilt

By ED SCHUYLER Jr.
Associated Press Sports Writer
The Vanderbilt Commodores ran into a Walk.

Vanderbilt, the nation's third-ranked college basketball team, appeared to have its sixth victory without a defeat after building a 44-30 halftime lead over Florida Monday night at Gainesville, Fla.

But then Florida's highly regarded sophomore, 6-foot-10 Neal Walk, held scoreless in the first half, scored seven straight points midway in the second half to get the Gators back in contention and they went on to score a 74-72 upset. Walk finished with 17 points as Florida built its record to 4-1.

Four other sophomores also paced their teams to victories.

Mike Maloy scored 19 of his 23 points in the first half as sixth-ranked Davidson built up a 45-30 halftime lead and rolled to a 90-68 victory over Rice in a first-round game of the Charlotte Invitational. Temple beat Miami of Ohio 65-60 in the other first-round game.

HBT Names Nassau and Hudson Valley

Hudson Valley Community College of Troy and Nassau County Community of Long Island have been selected to round the field for the Second Annual Holiday Basketball Tournament sponsored by Ulster County Community College.

Ulster and Manhattan Community, previously named, round out the field of four teams. Doubleheaders are scheduled Thursday and Friday starting at 7 p.m. Pairings will be announced.

Nassau, coached by Michael S. Candel, has two players averaging 20 points — Doug Robbins, 6-3, 198, and Robert Hennig, 5-9, 180. The leading rebounder is 6-2 Steve Johnson, who has been averaging 10 rebounds a game. Next is 6-3 Robert Larson, who has averaged 7 rebounds a game.

Hudson Valley scored its 100th victory under Coach Bob Kirchling when it defeated Adirondack Community College last week. Chuck Sager is the assistant coach.

Bob Cusack and Vaughn Santimaw are co-captains for the Trojans.

The team's leading scorer is John Nazarian, 6-1, who has been averaging 22 points a game. Santimaw, 6-3, had a 16-point average. Mike Pender, also 6-3, carries a 12.5 average and is hitting at a 9.3 average.

Santimaw also is the team's leading rebounder, averaging 34 rebounds a game. Pender is second with 32 rebounds, while Steve Sayre, 6-4, is a close third with 30 rebounds.

"We had excellent community response to our first tournament last year," said Coach Mike Perry of UCCC, "and we're hoping for similar support from the public this year."

The tournament will give local residents an opportunity to see some of the best junior college basketball in the Northeast.

State to its sixth victory, an 87-80 upset of Purdue at Lafayette, Ind.

Sparky Grober came off the bench and sank eight of 11 field goals—he scored 17 points—to spark Oklahoma State to a 67-65 victory over Washington at Stillwater, Okla. The winners scored on three free throws in the last 46 seconds, one coming on a technical foul for too many Washington timeouts.

Six-foot-11 Bob Lienhard poured in 29 points and led Georgia to a 94-80 victory over Furman at Athens, Ga.

All-American Elvin Hayes, a senior, struck a blow for upperclassmen by scoring 35 points as second-ranked Houston breezed to a 103-65 home-court victory over Minnesota.

Upend San Diego

ana State, the No. 7 small college team upset first-ranked San Diego State 84-69 at Terre Haute, Ind.

In other games: Yale beat Virginia 79-72 for the championship and Virginia Tech drubbed New York University for third place in the Virginia-VPI Invitational. St. Bonaventure remained undefeated with a 88-73 victory over Auburn and Seattle topped Rutgers 75-63 in first round games of the Tampa, Fla., Invitational.

Iowa edged Texas at El Paso 59-53 at home. Wake Forest scored an easy 108-79 home-court victory over William & Mary, visiting Northwestern took Missouri 79-68. Stanford lost at Kansas 72-54. Utah edged San Jose State 82-81 at home and Kentucky Wesleyan, the second-ranked small college team scored an easy 113-87 victory over Texas Wesleyan at home.

Frazier KO's Conner

BOSTON (AP)—Joe Frazier's 19th straight professional victory was an early knockout final catching him flush with a as expected, but he says the main reason was the willingness of outweighted and outgunned Marion Conner to make a fight of it.

"He could probably have stayed longer if he tried to move," the unbeaten heavyweight contender said Monday night after putting Conner away at 1:40 of the third round. "But he came to work and to fight, just like I did."

Frazier, 210, of Philadelphia, concentrated on the body in the first two rounds, then switched his attack to the head in the third.

No Snow, But Gloom Pervades Green Bay

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — There's cause for concern in Green Bay. Christmas is six days away and there's still no snow on the ground and the beloved Packers have problems.

The defending professional football champions meet the Los Angeles Rams in Milwaukee Saturday for the National Football League's Western Conference title.

Normally that would be no cause for alarm on the part of Packers fans, but 1967 has not been a normal Packers season. The regular schedule came to an end Sunday as the Packers lost 24-17 to the lightly held Pittsburgh Steelers.

"They looked like a high school team out there," complained a white-haired lady in a coffee shop. In Green Bay, even white-haired ladies are sometimes Monday morning quarterbacks.

While the Packers were fumbling away the Steeler game, the Rams were humbling previously unbeaten Baltimore 34-10 for their second big victory in two games. The first was over the Packers, 27-24.

The Rams were seemingly eliminated from the race by the Packers two weeks ago, but a blocked punt in the final minute led to the Ram victory.

"They're hotter than hell," said Jerry Kramer, the Packers' veteran guard.

"I don't think we ever suffered a defeat that hurt me more personally," said tackle Forrest Gregg.

The Packers go into the rematch with an already big injury list bigger than ever. Reserve end Allan Brown ruptured a kidney and reserve tackle Steve Wright cracked a rib against the Steelers.

Coach Vince Lombardi also disclosed that starting halfback

St. Joseph's Routs St. Francis, 77-36

St. Joseph's of Kingston overwhelmed Phoenixia's St. Francis de Sales, 77-36, last night in a CYO Intermediate League basketball game.

Outscoring their opponents better than two to one in every quarter save the fourth, St. Joseph's ran their season total to 2 victories and one defeat. St. Francis has yet to tally a winning game.

ST. JOSEPH'S (77) — Bob Walker 12, Tony Argulewicz 11, Neil Freandafer 6, Wesley Thompson 21, Ed Freer, Bob Davis 11, Frank Rahm 6, Ralph Veytia 10 and Tim Horgan.

ST. FRANCIS (36) — T. Reilly, C. Fraser 13, M. Scherrer, T. Weber 6, R. Trutbo 6, T. Byer, J. Stramb 2, C. Lemons 5 and M. Byer 4.

The UCCC Senators are expected to sweep the Mid-Hudson Conference and perhaps go on to the national Junior College tournament in California.

Whether they like it or not, Coach Gilligan's Maroons are heavy favorites to win the DUSO and Section 9 crowns.

Although Beacon has dropped its last two games, the Bulldogs have been DCSL champs for the last five years, compiling a 55-1 league record. A 48-game winning streak was snapped last year by Roosevelt. Beacon also won the Kingston basketball tournament twice and finished second once. Nate Milligan figures to star in tonight's game.

Lead at Stake
In the UCAL, the winner of the Onteora-Marlboro game will emerge as leader in the league race. Due to limited seating capacity of the Onteora gym, tickets must be purchased in advance. No tickets will be sold at the door.

Whatever the outcome of the OCS-Marlboro contest, a win for New Paltz over Highland will put the Hugenots into second place. New Paltz will be tied with Marlboro, if Onteora takes hit 14, D. Jordan 13 and D. that contest, and one game in Madden 11 for St. Joseph's.

St. Joseph's defeated Immaculate Conception, 45-24, in CYO Jayvee competition at the JFK school court.

North Carolina, Indiana Gain on UCLA

By BEN OLAN

Associated Press Sports Writer

North Carolina and Indiana registered the most notable gains in The Associated Press' major-college basketball poll today although powerful UCLA still dominates the voting.

The Tarheels knocked off two of last week's ranking teams, Kentucky and Princeton, and advanced three places to fourth. The setbacks dropped Princeton from the ratings altogether and sent Kentucky from the No. 4 to the No. 7 spot.

Indiana advanced from ninth to fifth after defeating Kansas State 89-83 and North Carolina State 101-97 in overtime.

Tennessee, now No. 9, and Bradley, No. 10, replaced Princeton and Louisville in the Top Ten.

UCLA received 30 first-place votes and two for second place for a total of 318 points in the balloting by a national panel of 32 sports writers and broadcasters. The Bruins, 3-0, were idle last week and meet Bradley in their next game Friday night.

The Houston Cougars held the No. 2 position. They defeated

George Washington, Montana State and Brigham Young for a

7-0 mark. The Cougars accumulated 276 points, including 20 for

ing was on the usual basis of 10 for a first-place vote, 9 for second, 8 for third, etc.

Vanderbilt, 5-0, remained in third place after beating Davidson 81-79 in overtime and Duke

Commodores lost to Florida 74-72 Monday night but the balloting was based on games through last Saturday.

Davidson climbed two spots to sixth despite its defeat by the Commodores.

Boston College, which lost to

St. John's of New York 91-90,

The Packers go into the rematch with an already big injury list bigger than ever. Reserve end Allan Brown ruptured a kidney and reserve tackle Steve Wright cracked a rib against the Steelers.

Coach Vince Lombardi also disclosed that starting halfback

Donny Anderson was nursing a bruised hip and that fullbacks Jim Grabowski and Ben Wilson still were ailing.

Grabowski has not played much in seven weeks and remains a doubtful player in Saturday's game. Wilson played against the Steelers despite sore ribs. His ribs still were sore after the game, and so was his left foot.

"Outside of that, (the injuries) I've got no worries," said Lombardi.

The coach, who would like to guide Green Bay to a third straight NFL crown, wouldn't admit that the game Saturday posed any special challenge for him.

The UCCC Senators are expected to sweep the Mid-Hudson Conference and perhaps go on to the national Junior College tournament in California.

Rondout, 2-2 in UCAL circuit, is the probable winner against Walkill. The Panthers, (0-3) to date, share the league cellar with Highland. Rondout has won its last two outings, against New Paltz and Pine Bush, while Walkill has dropped games to Pine Bush, New Paltz and Ontario.

Jim Collins scored all of his 13 points in a second-half burst to help unbeaten New Mexico

State to its sixth victory, an 87-80 upset of Purdue at Lafayette, Ind.

Sparky Grober came off the bench and sank eight of 11 field goals—he scored 17 points—to spark Oklahoma State to a 67-65 victory over Washington at Stillwater, Okla. The winners scored on three free throws in the last 46 seconds, one coming on a technical foul for too many Washington timeouts.

Six-foot-11 Bob Lienhard poured in 29 points and led Georgia to a 94-80 victory over Furman at Athens, Ga.

All-American Elvin Hayes, a senior struck a blow for upper classmen by scoring 35 points as second-ranked Houston breezed to a 103-65 home-court victory over Minnesota.

Upend San Diego

Tulsa, 6-1, handed Wyoming its first loss after five victories, 72-58 at Tulsa, Okla., and Indiana State, the No. 7 small college team upset first-ranked San Diego State 84-69 at Terre Haute, Ind.

In other games:

Yale beat Virginia 79-72 for the championship and Virginia Tech drubbed New York University for third place in the Virginia-VPI Invitational. St. Bonaventure remained undefeated with a 88-73 victory over Auburn and Seattle topped Rutgers 75-63 in first round games of the Tampa, Fla. Invitational.

Iowa edged Texas at El Paso 59-53 at home. Wake Forest scored an easy 108-79 home-court victory over William & Mary, visiting Northwestern took Missouri 79-68. Stanford lost at Kansas 72-54. Utah edged San Jose State 82-81 at home and Kentucky Wesleyan, the second-ranked small college team scored an easy 113-87 victory over Texas Wesleyan at home.

Frazier KO's Conner

BOSTON (AP) — Joe Frazier's 19th straight professional victory was an early knockout as expected, but he says the main reason was the willingness of outweighted and outgunned Marion Conner to make a fight of it.

"He could probably have stayed longer if he tried to move," the unbeaten heavyweight contender said Monday night after putting Conner away at 1:40 of the third round. "But he came to work and to fight, just like I did."

Frazier, 210, of Philadelphia, concentrated on the body in the first two rounds, then switched his attack to the head in the third. He staggered the 180-pound Conner several times, finally catching him flush with a tremendous left hook to record his 17th knockout.

Conner went down, and although he struggled to his feet quickly, referee Billy Connolly decided he had had enough punishment and stopped the fight.

The 30-pound weight difference was obviously too much for Conner, a journeyman boxer who has campaigned quite a bit in New England although he lists his hometown as Canton, Ohio. Really no more than an overworked light heavyweight, he couldn't cope with Frazier and never landed a telling punch.

Hudson Valley Community College of Troy and Nassau County Community of Long Island have been selected to round the field for the Second Annual Holiday Basketball Tournament sponsored by Ulster County Community College.

Ulster and Manhattan Community, previously named, round out the field of four teams. Doubleheaders are scheduled Thursday and Friday starting at 7 p.m. Pairings will be announced.

Nassau, coached by Michael S. Candel, has two players averaging 20 points — Doug Robbins, 6-3, 198, and Robert Hennig, 5-9, 180. The leading rebounder is 6-2 Steve Johnson, who has been averaging 10 rebounds a game. Next is 6-3 Robert Larson, who has averaged 7 rebounds a game.

The team's tallest player is William Kimble, who stands 6-5 and weighs 195. Only returning players from last year's squad are Robbins and Robert Skoblicki. Jim Rogers, another squad member, played only part of last season.

Hudson Valley scored its 100th victory under Coach Bob Kirchberger when it defeated Adirondack Community College last week. Chuck Sager is the assistant coach.

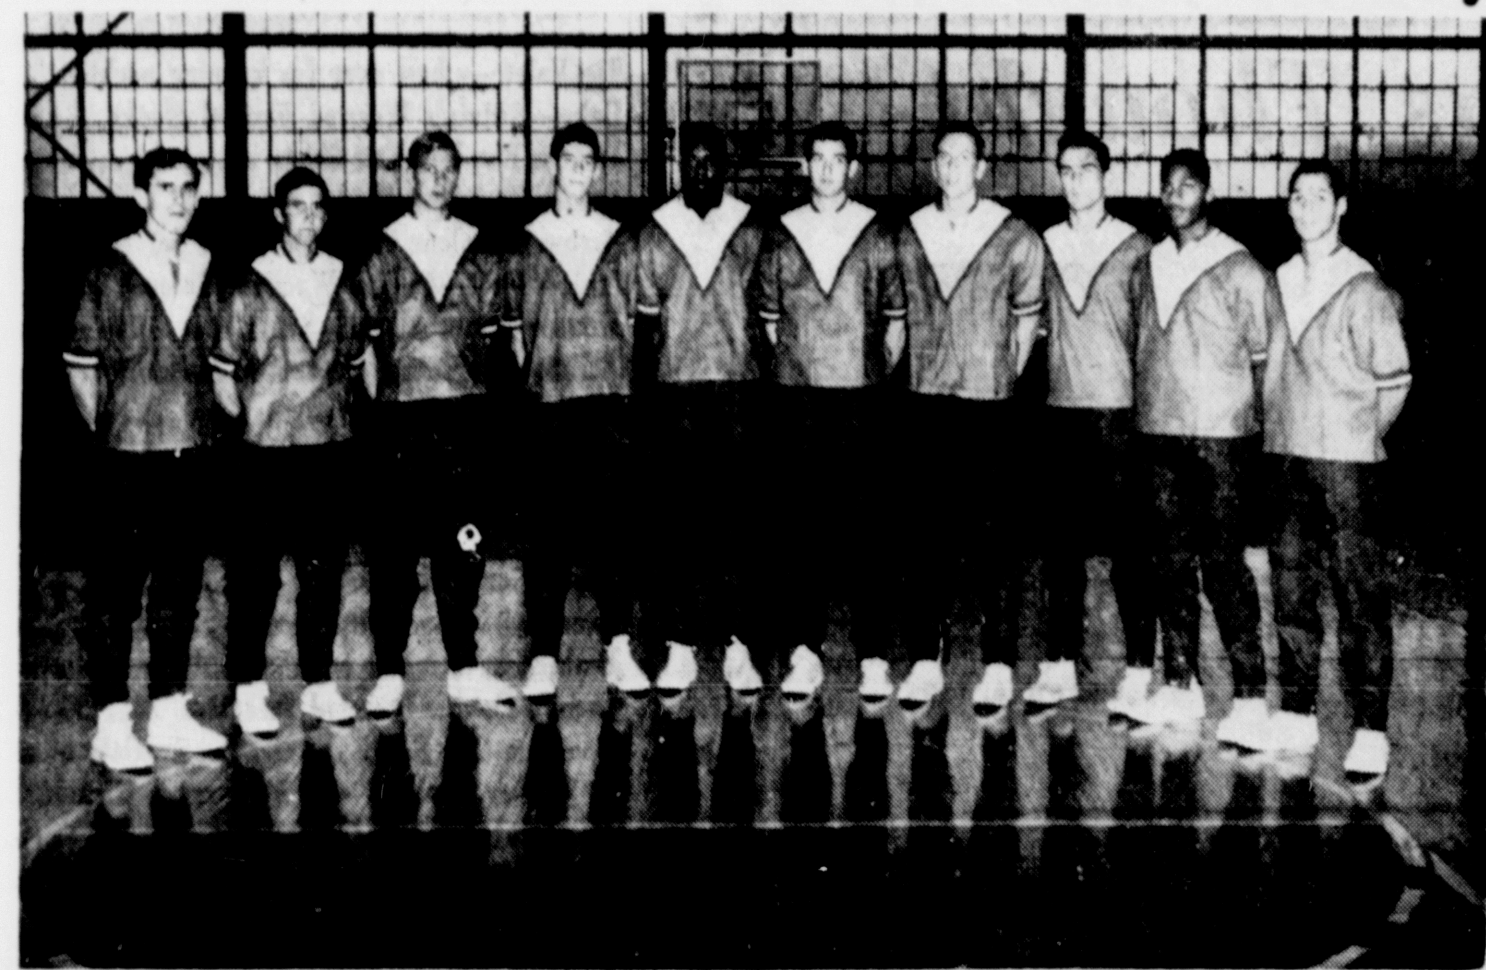

Bob Cusack and Vaughn Santimaw are co-captains for the Trojans.

The team's leading scorer is John Nazarian, 6-1, who has been averaging 22 points a game. Santimaw, 6-3, had a 16-point average. Mike Pender, also 6-3, carries a 12.5 average and Crussack, 5-10, is hitting at a 9.3 average.

Santimaw also is the team's leading rebounder, averaging 34 rebounds a game. Pender is second with 32 rebounds, while Steve Sayre, 6-4, is a close third with 30 rebounds.

"We had excellent community response, to our first tournament last year," said Coach Mike Perry of UCCC, "and we're hoping for similar support from the public this year."

The tournament will give local residents an opportunity to see some of the best junior college basketball in the Northeast.

North Carolina, Indiana Gain on UCLA

By BEN OLAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

North Carolina and Indiana registered the most notable gains in The Associated Press major-college basketball poll today although powerful UCLA still dominates the voting.

The Tarheels knocked off two of last week's ranking teams, Kentucky and Princeton, and advanced three places to fourth. The setbacks dropped Princeton from the ratings altogether and sent Kentucky from the No. 4 to the No. 7 spot.

Indiana advanced from ninth to fifth after defeating Kansas State 89-83 and North Carolina State 101-97 in overtime.

Tennessee, now No. 9, and Bradley, No. 10, replaced Princeton and Louisville in the Top Ten.

UCLA received 30 first-place votes and two for second place for a total of 318 points in the polling by a national panel of 32 sports writers and broadcasters. The Bruins, 3-0, were idle last week and meet Bradley in their next game Friday night.

The Houston Cougars held the No. 2 position. They defeated George Washington, Montana State and Brigham Young for a 7-0 mark. The Cougars accumulated 276 points, including 20 for two first-place votes. The ballot was on the usual basis of 10 for a first-place vote, 9 for second, 8 for third, etc.

Vanderbilt, 5-0, remained in third place after beating Davidson 81-79 in overtime and Duke 76-75. The Commodores lost to Florida 74-72 Monday night but the balloting was based on games through last Saturday.

Boston College, which lost to St. John's of New York 91-90, slipped from sixth to eighth.

Tennessee is 3-0, including last 10, Bradley points in parentheses and total votes on a 10-9-8-etc. basis:

1. UCLA (30) 318
2. Houston (2) 276
3. Vanderbilt 241
4. North Carolina 179
5. Indiana 143
6. Davidson 88
7. Kentucky 84

UCCC Hosts Dutchess In Auditorium Contest

Nothing succeeds like success they say, so it is reasonable to assume that Uster County Community College's undefeated Senators (7-0) will make Dutchess Community of Poughkeepsie their 8th straight victim tonight at the municipal auditorium. Game time is 8 p.m.

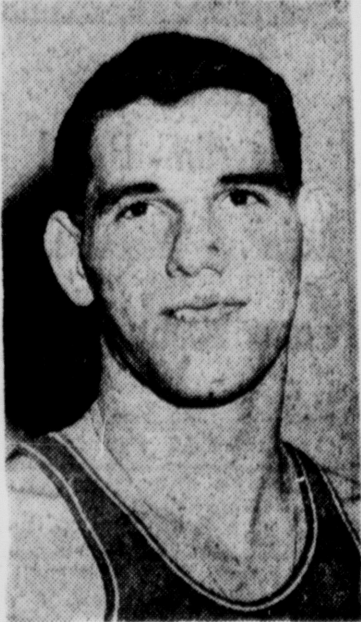

Dutchess comes to town with a 2-3 record and not even Coach Golub is overly optimistic.

"If we can control the offensive and defensive boards and play the style of ball that we're capable of, Dutchess can win this one," says Golub.

The record is against him however and Messrs. Uhl, Roselli, Chando and company figure to keep rolling with another 100-point effort and bag their 11th straight over a 2-year span.

Roselli Clicking

One of extra sidelihts of the UCCC season has been the superb play of Frank Roselli, the Totterville, L. I. senior. Joe Uhl's sensational, eye catching shooting is obvious to UCCC rooters, but the basketball purists are not missing the fine nuances of Roselli's spectacular contribution to the team.

FRANK ROSELLI

"He's the heart of the ball club," says one veteran observer. "He's a good shooter, a top rebounder (23 against Sullivan), and outstanding in the assist and steals department. He's a fine playmaker and just about the whole ball player."

Coach Mike Perry has consistently praised Roselli for his fine play this season. The 6-foot, 170-pound Roselli scored 223 points in last year's 24-game schedule for a solid performance. This year he has come full bloom and will end the 1967-68 season as one of UCCC's all-time greats.

Dutchess Starters

Coach Golub of Dutchess is expected to start Ed Boone and Richie Lawrence, forwards; Sonny Johnson or Marv Rosenberg, guard; Lew Richardson, center; and Stan Cohen, high post.

Boone leads the Dutchess squad with a 16-point average per game. Lawrence is close behind with 15. Leading the team in rebounds is Lew Richardson who has been snagging an average of 14 per game.

UCAL Defers Expansion Move

Uster County Athletic League's (UCAL) executive committee last night deferred action on application for admission from Ellenville High school and John A. Coleman High school of Kingston.

Athletic Directors Paul Jordan of Ontario and John (Chick) Meehan of Rondout Valley sat in on the deliberations of the UCAL executive committee and president John Wyman of New Paltz.

It was learned by The Freeman that no action was taken on the two applications. Ground rules were discussed and other criteria dealing with expansion were discussed.

While the committee may meet again in the near future, no formal vote on the applications is expected until the regular UCAL meeting in February.

Shula, Allen NFL Co-Coaches

NEW YORK (AP) — Coach George Allen of the Los Angeles Rams thought it would be a shame for either team to lose in the showdown between his Rams and the Baltimore Colts.

One team, of course, lost, but neither of the coaches did.

Instead Allen and Don Shula of the Colts were named National Football League co-coaches of the year Monday in the voting by an Associated Press panel of football writers and broadcasters.

"I assume the vote was taken before Sunday's game," Shula said wryly, referring to the fact that the Colts lost both the game and the Coastal Division title to the Rams.

Shula was right. The vote was taken before the game, and Allen and he each received 16 votes of the 46 cast.

Vince Lombardi of Green Bay got six votes, New York's Alie Sherman three, George Halas of Chicago and Blanton Collier of Cleveland two each and Tom Fears of New Orleans one.

Allen, who stirred up a big fuss when he resigned as one of Halas' assistant coaches to go west, started out with a last-place team, took the Rams to an 8-6 record last year and a brilliant 11-1-2 mark this season.

Much of his success stems from the numerous trades he has made. In his two years in Los Angeles, he has obtained from other teams such standouts as tackle Roger Brown, linebackers Maxie Baughman and Myron Pottios, ends Bernie Casey and Jack Snow and defensive backs Irv Cross and Claude Crabb.

Shula and the Colts had a tremendous season until the Rams game. Despite injuries to Ray Berry, Jimmy Orr, Bobby Boyd, Lenny Lyles and Alvin Haymond, the Colts remained undefeated through their first 13 games.

UCCC Hosts Dutchess In Auditorium Contest

Nothing succeeds like success they say, so it is reasonable to assume that Ulster County Community College's undefeated Senators (7-0) will make Dutchess Community of Poughkeepsie their 8th straight victim tonight at the municipal auditorium. Game time is 8 p.m.

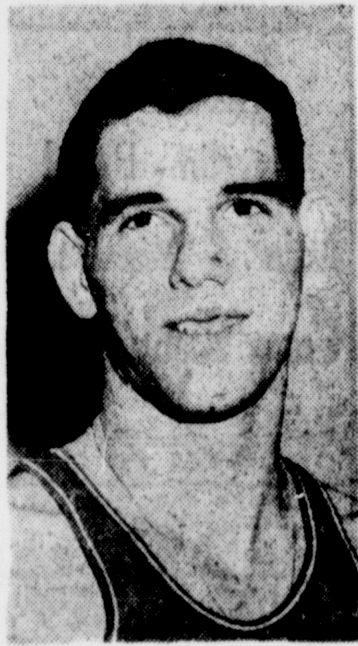

Dutchess comes to town with a 2-3 record and not even Coach Golub is overly optimistic.

"If we can control the offensive and defensive boards and play the style of ball that we're capable of, Dutchess can win this one," says Golub.

Roselli Clicking

One of extra sidights of the UCCC season has been the superb play of Frank Roselli, the Tottenville, L. I. senior. Joe Uhl's sensational eye catching shooting is obvious to UCCC rosters, but the basketball purists are not missing the fine nuances of Roselli's spectacular contribution to the team.

FRANK ROSELLI

"He's the heart of the ball club," says one veteran observer. "He's a good shooter, a top rebounder (23 against Sullivan), and outstanding in the assist and steals department. He's a fine playmaker and just about the whole ball player."

Coach Mike Perry has consistently praised Roselli for his fine play this season. The 6-foot, 170-pound Roselli scored 223 points in last year's 24-game schedule for a solid performance. This year he has come full bloom and will end the 1967-68 season as one of UCCC's all-time greats.

AFL Rookie of the Year

George Webster

NEW YORK — (NEA) — The nine coaches of the American Football League have made George Webster of the Houston Oilers their clear-cut choice as the 1967 Rookie of the Year.

In a special poll conducted by NEA, Webster emerged with a majority of five votes.

Dick Post, the pint-sized running back of the San Diego Chargers, was named by two. Others mentioned were Gene Upshaw, the impressive offensive guard of the Oakland Raiders, and the Miami battery of quarterback Bob Greise and split end Jack Blancy, who received a split vote.

The most surprising aspect of the 1967 season in the AFL was the resurgence of the defensive platoon of the Houston Oilers. Last year, it gave up more points than any team in the league. This year, it catapulted the Oilers into the race for the Eastern Division title.

From the day he reported to the Houston camp, Webster was the welding force of that defense as a corner linebacker. At 6-5 and 225 pounds, he has both the range and the size to seal off the run and the pass. He has made an impact on the entire league.

At Michigan State, he had been a two-time All-American as the "monster man" of the Spartan's backfield. George wasn't an unknown quantity in the collegiate draft. He was the fifth man picked (and, of course, the Oilers' first choice). He'll be around for a long time as an All-Pro, in addition to his initial rookie laurels.

UCAL Defers Expansion Move

Ulster County Athletic League's (UCAL) executive committee last night deferred action on application for admission from Ellenville High school and John A. Coleman High school of Kingston.

Athletic Directors Paul Jordan of Ontario and John (Chick) Meehan of Rondout Valley sat in on the deliberations of the UCAL executive committee and president John Wyman of New Paltz.

It was learned by The Freeman that no action was taken on the two applications. Ground rules were discussed and other criteria dealing with expansion were discussed.

While the committee may meet again in the near future, no formal vote on the applications is expected until the regular UCAL meeting in February.

Shula, Allen NFL Co-Coaches

NEW YORK (AP) — Coach George Allen of the Los Angeles Rams thought it would be a shame for either team to lose in the showdown between his Rams and the Baltimore Colts.

One team, of course, lost, but neither of the coaches did. Instead Allen and Don Shula of the Colts were named National Football League cocoaches of the year Monday in the voting by an Associated Press panel of football writers and broadcasters.

"I assume the vote was taken before Sunday's game," Shula said wryly, referring to the fact that the Colts lost both the game and the Coastal Division title this past Sunday.

Shula was right. The vote was taken before the game, and Allen and he each received 16 votes of the 46 cast.

Vince Lombardi of Green Bay got six votes, New York's Alie Sherman three, George Halas of Chicago and Blanton Collier of Cleveland two each and Tom Fears of New Orleans one.

Allen, who stirred up a big fuss when he resigned as one of Halas' assistant coaches to go west, started out with a last-place team, took the Rams to an 8-6 record last year and a brilliant 11-1-2 mark this season.

Much of his success stems from the numerous trades he has made. In his two years in Los Angeles, he has obtained from other teams such standouts as tackle Roger Brown, linebackers Maxie Bauvhan and Myron Pottios, ends Bernie Casey and Jack Snow and defensive backs Irv Cross and Claude Crabbe.

Shula and the Colts had a tremendous season until the Rams game. Despite injuries to Ray Berry, Jimmy Orr, Bobby Boyd, Lenny Lyles and Alvin Haymond, the Colts remained undefeated through their first 13 games.

Shula was seeking his second conference crown in his five years in Baltimore. The Colts lost the championship game to the Western title in 1964 but won the championship game to years in Baltimore. The Colts Cleveland.

Dear Abby

Ex-Mate Should Be There

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
(© 1967 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.)

Dear Abby: I was married for over 30 years and for reasons I do not care to disclose we were divorced four years ago. From this marriage I have seven wonderful children who are now grown and married.

Three months ago I married again. Here is my problem: On Christmas eve all my children come home and we exchange gifts. Their father the children want him, and he wants to come, and your husband has no objections, invite him.

Dear Abby: This is for the 15-year-old girl who threatened to get herself pregnant so her parents would "have to" let her marry the boy she loved. (He was 16).

I hope your parents knock some sense into your head before you do such a foolish thing. I married at 15. The boy I couldn't live without was 16. We had four children by the time I was 19. He quit school to marry me, and the jobs he can get without an education do not bring in very much, so now I am knocking myself out trying to get my education. My family is suffering from my neglect. But I MUST get an education.

There is a time in life for everything, and 15 is no time for marriage, no matter how "mature" a girl thinks she is. She is only a baby, and can't possibly know what characteristics she will value in a man when she grows up. And 9 chances out of 10, the man she marries will not possess them. I wish my parents had been less "understanding" and more demanding when I was 15.

LIVING AND LEARNING
Dear Abby: Thank you for printing my letter. I learned a good lesson from your answer and will never get myself into a mess like that again. I have only one complaint: Why, in your headline, did you say, "WIFE BETRAYS HUSBAND'S BOSS"? It should have read, "WIFE BETRAYED BY HUSBAND'S BOSS." Some of your headlines are very clever, but this one was misleading.

NO LONGER UPSET
Dear No Longer: Sorry, but I claim no credit—or blame—for the headlines on my column. This is the province of your local newspaper editor.

CONFIDENTIAL TO M. J.: I inquired at my local postoffice and was told that there is no official ruling against using popcorn (popped) for "filler" in packages sent to our servicemen overseas, but they advise AGAINST it.

Their reason was not the one you stated—that popcorn picks up "deadly fumes" from planes and ships. Their reason: Popcorn attracts bugs and rats. Far as they can determine, marshmallows for "filler" are all right.

Horoscope

By SYDNEY OMARR

It's In The Stars —

("The wise man controls his destiny... astrology points the way.")

Forecast For Wednesday
December 20, 1967

ARIES (Mar. 21-Apr. 19): How you spend money, emotions are of paramount importance. There is time element involved. You can't waste, bluff or cajole. Real results depend upon hard push when it counts.

TAURUS (Apr. 20-May 20): People at the top tend to irritate you. You want to move. But there are details, duties which demand fulfillment. Attend to basic affairs. The rest will take care of itself.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Avoid travel unless absolutely necessary. Tendency is to take wrong path, to delay, to arrive at inopportune time. Make this day wonderful by giving. Then you succeed.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): There may be doubt on part of mate or partner concerning investment. Be articulate. Point out advantages, express confidence. Hesitation now could result in loss.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Cycle high. Opposition is transformed to constructive challenge. Pinch of restriction could cause you to be rebellious. But if smart, you will bide your time. Recent contact aids cause.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Be aware of health requirements. Don't push too hard or too fast. Communicate desires. Many want to understand but feel left out. Open up. Express your true self.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Friends may appear aggressive, in a way contradict themselves. Means today accent is on your ability to understand, be patient. Showdown due with one close to you.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Envy on part of older individual could obstruct career progress. Stand up for your rights. But do so in mature manner. To be effective, avoid histrionics.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Ideas appear plentiful. Key is to pick and choose. Don't panic. Some may try to rush you. Relatives appear impatient. Responsibility is your own. Heed inner voice.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Don't be in too much of a hurry to part with money, possessions. Some who urge you to do so may not have all facts.

Play waiting game. Added information may change picture. AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Others today may consider you overly aggressive. Counter this by explaining, making motives crystal clear. Applies especially in dealing with mate or partner. Watch public relations.

PISCES (Feb. 19-Mar. 20): Accent on health, work, recreation. Key is proper pacing, balance. Avoid extremes. Give attention to diet. One who is confined would appreciate visit, card or communication.

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY you are musically inclined, sensitive to needs, moods of others. Intensified relationship comes to climax. State needs, requirements. Emphasize frankness.

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Cycle high for LEO, VIRGO. Special word to TAURUS: steer clear of family dispute. New approach pays dividends.

By Oswald and James Jacoby
The recent death of Ivan Erdos at the age of 43 took away one of the best and most colorful of our players. According to Oswald, Ivan was a youngster. From Jim's viewpoint he was middle-aged. From any viewpoint he was a great player.

Ivan won his first national title in 1939 when the team of Erdos, Ollie Adams, Bob Sharp and Oswald Jacoby won the men's team event at Coronado. It was an unusual win in that it was the first national victory for three members of this team.

Ivan went on to win numerous other national titles and with fellow Californian, Kelsey Petterson, represented the United States in world competition a few years back.

Ivan was one of those players who was willing to make a play for which he would be criticized severely, if it failed. His theory was that he didn't care about criticism. He wanted to win.

Here is a hand from a rubber bridge game that illustrates this. Ivan refused to take a sure profit against seven clubs. He ruffed the opening club lead and led a trump to dummy's king. Then he led back a trump and proceeded to think "or some time after East played the seven spot.

The standard play would be to go up with the ace or queen and, as you can see, the standard play would have lost. Every one would have said, "Tough luck." There would have been no criticism.

Ivan played his nine. If West had produced the jack or ten, North would have exploded. East, West and the kibitzers would all have laughed, and there would be a story going around about the expert who couldn't handle a 3-2 trump break.

All this meant nothing to Ivan. He decided West's bidding had shown a singleton spade. Ivan wanted to win and did. (Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

NEW YORK (AP) — Michael Flanders and Donald Swann are two of our British cousins with a slick comedy style of their very own and a droll, clever way with words and music. But they may not be every American television viewer's cup of tea.

The team was presented by CBS Monday night in an hour consisting of bits and pieces from their routine called "At the Drop Another Hat." Rather than a show, it was a comedy concert.

With Swann, who goes in for broad comedy, at the piano, and the bearded Flanders gliding about easily in a wheel chair, they moved from song to monologue — by Flanders — and from subject to subject. We heard about the curious ways of ostriches and the hippopotamus, the strange names of British railroad stations, Flanders, in a funny hat, had a long, dramatic story, couched in bullfighting terms, about the ritual of stuffing olives.

No Usual Targets

Although they are described as satirists, they failed to aim at the usual targets — the political establishments, youth or contemporary mores. They did complain mildly about the problem of communicating with modern scientists — "we don't know science and they don't know anything else."

Two of their most amusing pieces were Flanders' report on the frustrations of plane travel and a duet about the difficulty of finding parking space.

Some of the points were missed, sometimes because the sound track was not too good and other times because of their accents.

NEW YORK (AP) — Michael Flanders and Donald Swann are two of our British cousins with a slick comedy style of their very own and a droll, clever way with words and music. But they may not be every American television viewer's cup of tea.

The team was presented by CBS Monday night in an hour consisting of bits and pieces from their routine called "At the Drop Another Hat." Rather than a show, it was a comedy concert.

With Swann, who goes in for broad comedy, at the piano, and the bearded Flanders gliding about easily in a wheel chair, they moved from song to monologue—by Flanders—and from subject to subject. We heard about the curious ways of ostriches and the hippopotamus, the strange names of British railroad stations, Flanders, in a funny hat, had a long, dramatic story, couched in bullfighting terms, about the ritual of stuffing olives.

Although they are described as satirists, they failed to aim at the usual targets—the political establishments, youth or contemporary mores. They did complain mildly about the problem of communicating with modern scientists—"we don't know science and they don't know anything else."

Navajos Appeal for Help, And More Snow on the Way

WINDOW ROCK, ARIZ. (AP)

Navajo reservation officials are appealing for federal and state help as severe weather conditions continued today in Southwestern areas blanketed by six days of snow.

Tribal Chairman Raymond Nakai, in asking President Johnson to declare the 16-million acre reservation a disaster area, said the situation was the most critical in the modern-day history of the Navajo nation.

Three persons were known dead on the reservation as a result of back-to-back winter storms which in the past week had claimed at least 32 lives in Arizona, Colorado, Texas and New Mexico.

End Not in Sight

And the end was not in sight. Heavy snow warnings were posted today for mountain areas of California, Nevada, Utah, Arizona, New Mexico, Colorado, Wyoming and southern Idaho. Six Air Force helicopters at Window Rock for search and rescue operations on the reservation were grounded for the most part Monday as a fresh blizzard moved in and added to the snow which already had been whipped into drifts five feet high. Another half-foot of snow and winds of 35 miles per hour were forecast today.

One man from the St. Michael's area west of Window Rock said he had been trying to dig out of his ranch since last Thursday. When he reached Window Rock Monday night he said snow in the area reached up to the stomachs of cattle.

The latest fatality was a baby less than a week old who died of exposure Monday at Tolani Lake, about 60 miles northeast of Flagstaff, Ariz., tribal police Asst. Supt. Frank Chambers said.

Chambers also said some 80 persons, about half of them children, made their way Monday to a Navajo meeting house at Pinon, about 102 miles northwest of Window Rock. He said they apparently were among a group of Pinon nut pickers who were reported trapped in the wilderness when the snow first hit. Some of them were ill and others had been without food for 10 days, Chambers said.

New Mexico Gov. David Cargo disclosed Monday night that some federal assistance already was on the way in the form of hay for stranded livestock, heavy equipment, airplanes and food.

He said Price Daniel, director of the Office of Emergency Planning, promised the assistance when telephoned by the governors of four of the hardest-hit states—Cargo, Jack Williams of Arizona, Calvin Rampton of Utah and John Love of Colorado.

Aerial Drops Continue

Tribal leader Nakai also planned an appeal to Cargo, Williams and Rampton, the governors of the three states on which most of the giant reservation lies, for any possible assistance.

Aerial drops of hay continued Monday to keep livestock alive on the Hopi Indian reservation, which is nestled within the Navajo land. Officials said 70 to 80 tons of hay had been brought onto the reservation since the heavy snow emergency began.

Elsewhere in the Southwest, the snow isolated small communities, closed major highways and threatened livestock. Flagstaff, Ariz., had 54 inches on the ground Monday.

New Mexico Lt. Gov. E. Lee Francis, acting as governor while Cargo was out of the state, authorized use of National Guard vehicles to rescue stranded livestock and families of the Ramah and Fence Lake areas south of Gallup, N.M.

U.S. 66, a major east-west artery, was closed between Gallup and Albuquerque, N.M., backing up westbound traffic.

Bankrupt Railroad

Court Fails to Approve Merger

By STEPHEN M. AUG

WASHINGTON (AP) — The bankrupt New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad has been given another shove toward the brink of final financial collapse — this time through inaction by the U.S. Supreme Court.

The court began its year-end recess — until Jan. 15 — Monday without approving the Pennsylvania-New York Central Railroad merger — a transaction that New Haven trustees see as the only route to survival for their bankrupt line.

The trustees now have pinned their hopes for at least temporary survival of the New Haven on a federal bankruptcy court and money from Washington.

The trustees were to ask a federal bankruptcy court today to allow the railroad to withdraw $1.7 million of the $7 million in the court's registry to keep the trains running. The $7 million is money received from sales of New Haven assets and is being held for bondholders. Uncle Sam also is a New Haven bondholder, and the federal government is permitting its share of the money — $1.7 million — to be used by the line to meet its operating expenses.

The government also has announced it is making available to the New Haven $500,000 from the Department of Transportation to reimburse the railroad for expenses it has incurred on track work under the federal project to develop a high-speed ground transportation system.

The railroad also is the recipient of a $28 million grant from the Department of Housing and Urban Affairs, but this money may be used only for development of a mass transit system — not for operating expenses. The New Haven is supposed to buy 144 new self-propelled passenger cars, modernize some of its stations and bring its electrical and signal systems up to date.

The New Haven is to become part of a merged Penn-Central system under the Interstate Commerce Commission order which approved the consolidation. Penn and the New York Central have promised that once they merge — and this is to be accomplished the first of the month following Supreme Court approval — the New Haven will be able to borrow up to $25 million over a three-year period to keep operating until it formally becomes part of the merged system.

Want Merger Postponed
Blocking immediate consummation of the merger are the Norfolk & Western and Chesapeake & Ohio Railway systems which are seeking ICC approval of their own consolidation. They say they want Penn-Central postponed until the fate of three smaller Eastern railroads is settled. These are the Boston & Maine, Delaware & Hudson and Erie-Lackawanna. The ICC has ordered them included in the N&W system, but N&W is balking at the conditions laid down by the commission.

Also blocking the Penn-Central merger are certain groups of New Haven bondholders who are looking after their own interests. They have threatened to shut down the New Haven and liquidate it unless their terms are met.

New Candidate Says Johnson Can Be Beaten

BOSTON (AP) — Sen. Eugene McCarthy of Minnesota, a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, says he believes there is a "clear possibility" that President Johnson can be beaten.

McCarthy said after meeting with 33 Massachusetts Democrats, including 25 state representatives, Monday that he had no commitments from them, and said he intends to present the "case" of the Vietnam war to the people, and not just his name.

"I would say there has been no real pressure applied to get me to stay out of the campaign," he said.

In a speech Monday to Matignon High School pupils in Cambridge, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., said of McCarthy's candidacy, "I think the people ought to have the opportunity to speak out on that issue."

U.N. Presses for Adjournment

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U.N. General Assembly pressed on toward adjournment today after agreeing to meet again in the spring if a treaty to check the spread of nuclear weapons is ready.

The 123-nation assembly hoped to finish its business tonight. It was expected to push through a proposal by the United States, the Soviet Union and 13 other nations calling on the 17-nation Geneva Disarmament Committee to complete the nuclear nonproliferation treaty by March 15. The assembly then would reconvene as soon as possible to take final action on the draft.

The nonproliferation treaty has been under discussion in Geneva since 1959. The United States and Russia have agreed on all articles but the one dealing with inspection procedures.

Secretary-General U Thant stressed the dangers of spreading nuclear powers to suspend nuclear tests of all kinds and calling on the Geneva group to get busy on a comprehensive test ban treaty.

A three-nation draft asking the Geneva group to resume debate on the elimination of foreign military bases in Asia, Africa and Latin America and re-

There is no other alternative to the ever looming danger of a nuclear catastrophe," he said.

Also before the Assembly were:

—A 20-nation resolution urging all nuclear powers to suspend nuclear tests of all kinds and calling on the Geneva group to get busy on a comprehensive test ban treaty.

All the resolutions were overwhelmingly approved Monday by the assembly's main political committee, assuring their adoption by the assembly.

—A 32-nation resolution asking the disarmament committee to resume consideration "at the earliest possible date" of a treaty on general disarmament.

—A proposal by 21 smaller nations for an international conference of the nonnuclear nations starting next August.

Calls Red Spread Worry 'Poppycock'

WASHINGTON (AP) — A retired Marine Corps commandant terms "pure, unadulterated poppycock" the notion that U.S. self interest is at stake in Vietnam.

Gen. David M. Shoup, a persistent war policy critic who retired as commandant in 1963, said Monday of those who contend the U.S. effort in Vietnam is necessary to halt communism in bad shape.

"They just keep trying to keep the people worried about the Communist crawling up the banks of Pearl Harbor, or crawling up the beaches in Los Angeles, which of course is a bunch of pure, unadulterated poppycock."

Shoup said he is happy there is ultimate civilian control over the U.S. military "because I feel sure, if all the advice of the generals were taken, we'd really be in bad shape."

He said only negotiations could bring peace in Vietnam, adding: "We've grossly underestimated these people's attitudes and their determination that they're right; and that something that belongs to them; that they're right; and that they're going to fight to the death."

Shoup's remarks were in an interview with Rep. William F. Ryan, D-N.Y., taped for broadcast over WNYC in New York City.

Navajos Appeal for Help, And More Snow on the Way

WINDOW ROCK, Ariz. (AP) — Navajo reservation officials are appealing for federal and state help as severe weather conditions continued today in southwestern areas blanketed by six days of snow.

Tribal Chairman Raymond Nakai, in asking President Johnson to declare the 16-million acre reservation a disaster area, said the situation was the most critical in the modern-day history of the Navajo nation.

Three persons were known dead on the reservation as a result of back-to-back winter storms which in the past week had claimed at least 32 lives in Arizona, Colorado, Texas and New Mexico.

End Not in Sight

And the end was not in sight. Heavy snow warnings were posted today for mountain areas of California, Nevada, Utah, Arizona, New Mexico, Colorado, Wyoming and southern Idaho.

Six Air Force helicopters at Window Rock for search and rescue operations on the reservation were grounded for the most part Monday as a fresh blizzard moved in and added to the snow which already had been whipped into drifts five feet high. Another half-foot of snow and winds of 35 miles per hour were forecast today.

One man from the St. Michael's area west of Window Rock said he had been trying to dig out of his ranch since last Thursday. When he reached Window Rock Monday night he said snow in the area reached up to the stomachs of cattle.

The latest fatality was a baby less than a week old who died of exposure Monday at Tolani Lake, about 60 miles northeast of Flagstaff, Ariz., tribal police Asst. Supt. Frank Chambers said.

Chambers also said some 80 persons, about half of them children, made their way Monday to a Navajo meeting house at Pinon, about 102 miles northwest of Window Rock. He said they apparently were among a group of Pinon nut pickers who were reported trapped in the wilderness when the snow first hit. Some of them were ill and others had been without food for 10 days, Chambers said.

New Mexico Gov. David Cargo disclosed Monday night that some federal assistance already was on the way in the form of hay for stranded livestock, heavy equipment, airplanes and food.

He said Price Daniel, director of the Office of Emergency Planning, promised the assistance when telephoned by the governors of four of the hardest-hit states—Cargo, Jack Williams of Arizona, Calvin Rampton of Utah and John Love of Colorado.
